Mossadeh, Clad In Pajamas, On Trial For His Life In Iran

Ousted Dictator Weeps And Rails Against British

TEHRAN, Iran, Nov. 8 (AP)—Clad in gray woolen pajamas, ex-premier Mohammed Mossadeh went on trial for his life today. He is accused of defying the Shah, trying to overthrow the monarchy, and illegally dissolving the Malis (Parliament).

The ailing 73-year-old ousted dictator used all his emotional powers in appealing to the military court. He wept. He groaned. He limped. He almost fainted. He pounded his fists on his desk. He gasped for breath at one point in his long address and called for a glass of warm water. At another time he demanded a heater to keep himself warm in the cold courtroom. It was supplied.

He railed at the British and questioned the competency of the five-man military tribunal to try him. He spoke for 2½ hours on the first 10 pages of his 155-page brief. It looked as if it would be a long trial.

Appears Near Collapse

Mossadeh has long been suffering from a kidney ailment, and he frequently appeared to gasp for breath and to be near collapse. At one point he said:

"I am not defending myself in order to get this court to release me from imprisonment. It brings me glory. Suppose I were released, what security would I have outside? If I am killed in prison, everyone will know who killed me and what hands had a part in my murder. If I am killed outside prison, nobody will come to know who is responsible for my death. "I do not care how I am fated to die. What hurts me are the tricks by which they hope to betray the national movement of Iran."

Prosecution Challenged

Mossadeh challenged the prosecution to produce the original decree of Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi dismissing Mossadeh Aug. 13.

"I doubted its authenticity," Mossadeh said. "I kept it in an old Russian-made safe weighing 300 kilograms (660 pounds). It would take eight coolies to carry it. Only a blacksmith could open it. Now they say it is missing."

At the close of the prolonged session, Mossadeh stared straight at Brig. Hossein Azemodh, chief prosecutor, and said: "This is only part of the things I have to say about the competence of this court."

Second British Vessel Attacked

HONG KONG, Monday, Nov. 9 (AP)—A gunboat presumed to be Chinese Nationalist, prowling off the coast of Red China, chased and fired on a second British freighter Sunday morning.

The 335-ton freighter Rosita radioed the Royal Navy at Hong Kong that she was being attacked while off Heishung Island, about 15 miles southeast of Shanghai.

A second message soon after said the Rosita had successfully eluded the lone attacker and had resumed her voyage to Shanghai.

No casualties were reported. On Saturday the British freighter Hydralock was strafed by aircraft and chased by two warships, also presumed to be Nationalist. However the vessel escaped without casualties to Tsing-kiang, northeast of Amoy.

Mitchell Will Resign After 1954 Elections

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (AP)—Stephen A. Mitchell said today he will resign as Democratic national chairman after next year's congressional elections because he could not be neutral in the selection of the party's 1956 presidential nominee.

A long time friend of Adlai Stevenson, the Democrats' 1952 standard bearer who installed him as chairman, Mitchell said "I'll be partisan" when the presidential nomination campaign starts. Stevenson is considered a certain contender for the nomination.

Speaking on CBS' "Man of the Week" television program, Mitchell said he feels the chairman should be neutral among aspirants for the nomination and that he would not care for such a role.

Throng Quietly Buries Six Riot Dead At Trieste

TRIESTE, Nov. 8 (AP)—Solemn and sobered, Trieste buried its six dead rioters today.

Tens of thousands of Triestini marched behind the hearses as the funeral cortege filed through the hushed city. More than 100,000 lined the streets watching the procession. Even the street lights were draped with black crepe.

The Allied Military Government had feared the massive and emotional gathering might bring trouble. There was none.

When the procession reached the edge of the city and the hearses turned alone up the hill where the dead were to be buried, the great throng quietly dispersed.

No Civil Police Seen

Piazza Dell'Unita, where four of the victims were killed by riot police bullets Friday, was virtually empty. Only four flower-draped lamp posts and a few bullet gashes in the pavement served as reminders of the violence, stirred by the bitter Italian-Yugoslav argument over possession of this port city.

Apparently on AMG orders, not one civil policeman was to be seen on the streets. Only administrative police, under Italian control, guided the traffic.

It was the first time in weeks that the carbine-equipped police has not patrolled vital areas. The police involved in last week's rioting were British-trained, and Triestini have taken a violent dislike to all things British.

Troops Guard Buildings

Three companies of British and U. S. soldiers, in steel helmets and with rifles slung over their shoulders, guarded government installations today.

Twenty thousand Triestini assembled at the Cathedral of St. Justin, high on a hill, for the funeral services. The cathedral's two great bells rang solemnly over the city and the wind-lashed Adriatic Sea.

The throng listened in absolute silence while Bishop Giuseppe Santin appealed in his funeral oration for an end to violence.

Some drop out because of the well known intensity of study required, and the closely regulated life. A few resign on hardship grounds, saying they are needed at home to help support families. But of this year's 50 resignations at West Point thus far, only one has cited that reason.

The simple fact is that civilian employment offers quicker and greater financial lures, even if year class was 797 and the resignations numbered 43. The 1952 year began with 670, and the resignations rose to 88. The class which started this year was 728. To date, there have been about 50 resignations.

Fire, Termed 'Bad,' Strikes Again At GM

DETROIT, Nov. 8 (AP)—Fire struck tonight at General Motors' automatic transmission division at Willow Run, where it was moved only a few weeks ago after a multimillion dollar fire leveled GM's Livonia transmission plant.

Within an hour after first reports, plant protection men told state police the blaze had been brought under control.

State police said they had reports, however, that "some persons" were injured.

A telephone operator at the plant told a caller: "Yes, we had a very bad fire."

No other details were immediately available.

The plant is some 30 miles west of Detroit.

General Motors leased a large area of the Willow Run plant and rushed machinery there to resume production of its hydramatic transmissions.

Estimates of loss from the Livonia fire Aug. 12 ranged from 30 to 60 million dollars.

That costly blaze, which took several lives, interrupted production of several lines of GM cars and also at Packard and the Ford Lincoln-Mercury Division.

The transmission operation then was rushed to the Willow Run plant, leased from Kaiser Motors Corp., while the Livonia plant was being rebuilt. In the meantime, cars using hydramatic transmissions were equipped with transmissions manufactured for other GM model cars.

Only a few days ago GM announced that transmissions were coming off the Willow Run assembly line.

Ellender Expects High Farm Props

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (AP)—Sen. Ellender (D-La.) predicted today Congress will continue present high-level farm price supports on cotton, wheat, corn and other basic crops "whether Secretary of Agriculture Benson wants them or not."

At the same time, Ellender, former chairman of the Senate Agers that "Secretary Benson went back on his word to some of us who have been trying to cooperate with him."

Ellender said Benson had promised he would consider all complaints about his proposed reorganization of the department, "including the Soil Conservation Service, up until Nov. 1st."

"Then before we had a chance to place our complaints before him he announced that the reorganization would be put into operation," Ellender said.

The Senator said the present fixed price supports at 90 percent of parity are scheduled to expire with the next crops "but Secretary Benson has not yet announced what the administration program will be."

House Investigators Name Foley, Snyder In Citing Two Cases

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (AP)—House tax fraud investigators said today that top Treasury officials intervened in tax cases which resulted in a revenue loss in excess of 10 million dollars.

The report was made by a House ways and means subcommittee in concluding more than two years of investigation and hearings.

The subcommittee said that it had received evidence in public hearings that Treasury officials, including former Under Secretary Edward H. Foley, and former Secretary John W. Snyder, figured in intervention of behalf of taxpayers in six cases.

Two of these cases, the subcommittee said, involved 1948 rulings affecting the Monsanto Chemical Co. and a multimillion dollar foundation established by William S. Lasdon.

Case Discussed With Snyder

The Lasdon case involved a reduced tax under a capital assets ruling on drug patents. The Monsanto case involved a capital gains tax ruling on insurance received to cover Monsanto's loss of its Texas City, Tex., plant in a disastrous fire.

In the Lasdon case, the subcommittee said, a favorable ruling was handed down after Welburn Maycock, then counsel to the Democratic National Committee, discussed the case with Secretary Snyder.

Snyder, now a Toledo, Ohio, businessman, has previously said that Maycock once called upon him and asked "who is the man to see to get a decision" on the Lasdon matter.

"I referred him to Edward Foley after asking Foley to check up on the status of the case," Snyder said. "I made it clear I had no interest whatever in how it was settled."

Officials Dealt With Grunewald

In addition to singling out the Monsanto and Lasdon cases, the subcommittee reviewed the case of Henry W. Grunewald, jailed Washington influence peddler.

The committee said a "surprising list" of government officials and "apparently reputable private citizens" had dealings with Grunewald.

The committee in the first installment of its final report on two years of tax fraud inquiries, indicated that the scope of Grunewald's operations was even wider than shown by the hearings. No new names were mentioned.

Kids Show Up Dad When Tax Return To Be Filled Out

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (AP)—Sen. Smathers (D-Fla.) suggested today harassed fathers would be well advised to ask their high school sons and daughters for help in making out their income tax returns next March.

High school students working out sample returns in classes have proved far more accurate than taxpayers, Smathers said he had learned from Internal Revenue Commissioner T. Coleman Andrews.

Jewish Organizations Will Honor Truman

INDEPENDENCE, Mo., Nov. 8 (AP)—Harry S. Truman left today for New York to receive two awards from Jewish organizations and make a speech.

The former President is scheduled to arrive in New York by train at 10:05 EST tomorrow morning.

Monday night he will receive the Stephen Wise Award from the American Jewish Congress.

He will make a speech before the City College of New York Tuesday night.

Thursday night he is scheduled to receive the Solomon Bulbik Award as the person who has made the most significant contribution to the progress and development of Israel in recent years.

PARIS, Nov. 8 (AP)—Ivan Bunin, 83-year-old Russian writer who won the Nobel Prize for literature in 1933, died of a heart attack last night.

Army Trucks To The Rescue

Army trucks move slowly along Shore Drive in Winthrop, Mass., en route to evacuate residents as a huge wave breaks over the sea wall at high tide during a northeast storm. Stalled passenger car has been abandoned by its driver. Gusts of wind up to 78 miles per hour were reported by Weather Bureau officials. Shore Drive is covered with water several times each winter in severe storms but firemen said the high tide during weekend bad weather was about as bad as any in recent years.

Social Security Investigation Set By House Group

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (AP)—A House subcommittee sets out this week on the deepest digging investigation of the government's vast social security program in many years.

Informed sources said today the inquiry will be aimed at spotlighting what some congressmen feel are sharp inequities and misconceptions in the present program of retirement and death benefits for some 65 million workers.

The subcommittee itself, these sources said, may not make legislative recommendations for correcting the alleged inequities. But subcommittee leaders believe the picture to be unveiled may point the way to sweeping changes later.

Public Hearings To Be Held

Chairman Curtis (R-Neb) of the House Ways and Means subcommittee said government officials probably will be leadoff witnesses in public hearings starting Thursday.

Some of the specific points marked for the subcommittee hearings:

1. A clause which forbids retirement benefits for persons between 65 and 75 if they earn as much as $75 a month under the system. Hundreds of thousands of workers who have contributed to the system, but who cannot subsist on the retirement benefits alone, are reported to have been forced to continue working and thus render social security payments.

2. The benefit structure, under which the level of benefits is governed by average salaries and length of employment under the system. Critics say those who received the biggest salaries and had the steadiest employment, and who are likely to need help the least, get the biggest payments.

3. The "new start" provision of the present system under which some persons who contributed only 18 months could retire under maximum benefits the rest of their lives, in some cases getting back more than 200 times their contributions. Under this clause, other workers could contribute almost 10 years and not get a penny back if they left covered employment.

4. Duplicating benefits, under which some persons receive not only social security payments, but veterans, civil service, railroad retirement and other government-sponsored pensions.

5. The problem of the present aged. Of about eight million persons over 65, only about 2½ million are now receiving retirement payments.

6. The "new start" provision of the present system under which some persons who contributed only 18 months could retire under maximum benefits the rest of their lives, in some cases getting back more than 200 times their contributions. ### Pilots Rescued As Storm Downs Marine Planes

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 8 (AP)—A storm at sea forced three Marine Corps planes down north of Cuba today and their one-man crews were saved by surface vessels.

Five other planes in the flight from Puerto Rico to Miami landed at Homestead, Fla., where one crashed because of a fuel shortage. The pilot was safe.

The airmen forced down at sea and rescued were Capt. William H. Johnson and Lt. Thomas H. White, picked up by the Miami-bound steamship Navarro, and Lt. Forest G. Dawson, who was taken aboard the yacht Sea Dog IV.

GOP Challenged To Permit Probe Of White Affair

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (AP)—Stephen A. Mitchell, Democratic national chairman, today challenged the Eisenhower administration to let a grand jury investigate its charges that former President Truman promoted Harry Dexter White in the face of FBI reports that White was a Soviet spy.

Mitchell, speaking on the televised program "Man of the Week" (CBS), accused Atty-Gen. Brownell of "low politics" in voicing the charge during a speech in Chicago Friday.

"The Republicans may have an armful of porcupines before they get through with this," Mitchell said. He predicted that the American people ultimately would recognize the speech as "a political smokescreen."

Bitter Political Fight

Brownell's speech, which has whipped up a bitter political fight, charged that Truman promoted White in 1946 from the post of assistant secretary of the Treasury to director of the International Monetary Fund, also under the Treasury, despite two FBI warnings White was a spy.

White died in 1948, a week after he went before the House Un-American Activities Committee and denied testimony he was a member of an "elite" group in the Communist apparatus.

Truman, who is en route to New York by train from his home in Independence, Mo., has assailed Brownell's speech as political, and denied any recollection of such FBI warnings.

Mitchell said Brownell, if he believed the charges, should have been addressing a grand jury instead of a public audience. Brownell spoke before the Executive Club of Chicago.

"One Or The Other"

"If someone took advantage of the (former) President of the United States in the charges about the dead Mr. White, those people ought to be prosecuted," Mitchell said.

"Either someone took advantage of Mr. Truman, or is it the suggestion that the President was furthering the interests of a foreign power (in promoting White and keeping him in the government as a high Treasury Department aide) . . . or that he was part of a Communist activity?"

Mitchell added, and said of Brownell, "let him go before a grand jury" with the evidence and get its answer.

Troops Guard Buildings

Three companies of British and U. S. soldiers, in steel helmets and with rifles slung over their shoulders, guarded government installations today.

Twenty thousand Triestini assembled at the Cathedral of St. Justin, high on a hill, for the funeral services. The cathedral's two great bells rang solemnly over the city and the wind-lashed Adriatic Sea.

The throng listened in absolute silence while Bishop Giuseppe Santin appealed in his funeral oration for an end to violence.

West Point, Naval Academy 1st-Year Resignations Rise

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (AP)—West Point cadets and Annapolis plebes are quitting in increasing numbers before their first year is out.

Figures supplied by the Army and Navy today in response to inquiries showed a steady rise in the number of first-year resignations since the end of World War II, and particularly in the last three years.

A variety of reasons are cited, including congressional economy measures which in the last few years have trimmed away "fringe benefits" in the armed services, such as special pay and housing allowances, post exchange services, and medical benefits for military dependents.

In 1946, the first year class at West Point started out with 915, and there were 46 resignations during the year. In 1950 (the year the Korean War began) the first year class was 797 and the resig-

Fire, Termed 'Bad,' Strikes Again At GM

DETROIT, Nov. 8 (AP)—Fire struck tonight at General Motors' automatic transmission division at Willow Run, where it was moved only a few weeks ago after a multimillion dollar fire leveled GM's Livonia transmission plant.

Within an hour after first reports, plant protection men told state police the blaze had been brought under control.

State police said they had reports, however, that "some persons" were injured.

A telephone operator at the plant told a caller: "Yes, we had a very bad fire."

No other details were immediately available.

The plant is some 30 miles west of Detroit.

General Motors leased a large area of the Willow Run plant and rushed machinery there to resume production of its hydramatic transmissions.

Estimates of loss from the Livonia fire Aug. 12 ranged from 30 to 60 million dollars.

That costly blaze, which took several lives, interrupted production of several lines of GM cars and also at Packard and the Ford Lincoln-Mercury Division.

The transmission operation then was rushed to the Willow Run plant, leased from Kaiser Motors Corp., while the Livonia plant was being rebuilt. In the meantime, cars using hydramatic transmissions were equipped with transmissions manufactured for other GM model cars.

Only a few days ago GM announced that transmissions were coming off the Willow Run assembly line.

Ellender Expects High Farm Props

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (AP)—Sen. Ellender (D-La.) predicted today Congress will continue present high-level farm price supports on cotton, wheat, corn and other basic crops "whether Secretary of Agriculture Benson wants them or not."

At the same time, Ellender, former chairman of the Senate Agriculture committee, said he expected that "Secretary Benson went back on his word to some of us who have been trying to cooperate with him."

Ellender said Benson had promised he would consider all complaints about his proposed reorganization of the department, "including the Soil Conservation Service, up until Nov. 1st."

"Then before we had a chance to place our complaints before him he announced that the reorganization would be put into operation," Ellender said.

The Senator said the present fixed price supports at 90 percent of parity are scheduled to expire with the next crops "but Secretary Benson has not yet announced what the administration program will be."

House Investigators Name Foley, Snyder In Citing Two Cases

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (AP)—House tax fraud investigators said today that top Treasury officials intervened in tax cases which resulted in a revenue loss in excess of 10 million dollars.

The report was made by a House ways and means subcommittee in concluding more than two years of investigation and hearings.

The subcommittee said that it had received evidence in public hearings that Treasury officials, including former Under Secretary Edward H. Foley, and former Secretary John W. Snyder, figured in intervention of behalf of taxpayers in six cases.

Two of these cases, the subcommittee said, involved 1948 rulings affecting the Monsanto Chemical Co. and a multimillion dollar foundation established by William S. Lasdon.

Case Discussed With Snyder

The Lasdon case involved a reduced tax under a capital assets ruling on drug patents. The Monsanto case involved a capital gains tax ruling on insurance received to cover Monsanto's loss of its Texas City, Tex., plant in a disastrous fire.

In the Lasdon case, the subcommittee said, a favorable ruling was handed down after Welburn Maycock, then counsel to the Democratic National Committee, discussed the case with Secretary Snyder.

Snyder, now a Toledo, Ohio, businessman, has previously said that Maycock once called upon him and asked "who is the man to see to get a decision" on the Lasdon matter.

"I referred him to Edward Foley after asking Foley to check up on the status of the case," Snyder said. "I made it clear I had no interest whatever in how it was settled."

Officials Dealt With Grunewald

In addition to singling out the Monsanto and Lasdon cases, the subcommittee reviewed the case of Henry W. Grunewald, jailed Washington influence peddler.

The committee said a "surprising list" of government officials and "apparently reputable private citizens" had dealings with Grunewald.

The committee in the first installment of its final report on two years of tax fraud inquiries, indicated that the scope of Grunewald's operations was even wider than shown by the hearings. No new names were mentioned.

Kids Show Up Dad When Tax Return To Be Filled Out

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (AP)—Sen. Smathers (D-Fla.) suggested today harassed fathers would be well advised to ask their high school sons and daughters for help in making out their income tax returns next March.

High school students working out sample returns in classes have proved far more accurate than taxpayers, Smathers said he had learned from Internal Revenue Commissioner T. Coleman Andrews.

Army Trucks To The Rescue

Army trucks move slowly along Shore Drive in Winthrop, Mass., en route to evacuate residents as a huge wave breaks over the sea wall at high tide during a northeast storm. Stalled passenger car has been abandoned by its driver. Gusts of wind up to 78 miles per hour were reported by Weather Bureau officials. Shore Drive is covered with water several times each winter in severe storms but firemen said the high tide during weekend had weather was about as bad as any in recent years.

Social Security Investigation Set By House Group

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (AP)—A House subcommittee sets out this week on the deepest digging investigation of the government's vast social security program in many years.

Informed sources said today the inquiry will be aimed at spotlighting what some congressmen feel are sharp inequities and misconceptions in the present program of retirement and death benefits for some 65 million workers.

The subcommittee itself, these sources said, may not make legislative recommendations for correcting the alleged inequities. But subcommittee leaders believe the picture to be unveiled may point the way to sweeping changes later.

Public Hearings To Be Held

Chairman Curtis (R-Neb.) of the House Ways and Means subcommittee said government officials probably will be leadoff witnesses in public hearings starting Thursday.

Some of the specific points marked for the subcommittee hearings:

1. A clause which forbids retirement benefits for persons between 65 and 75 if they earn as much as $75 a month under the system. Hundreds of thousands of workers who have contributed to the system, but who cannot subsist on their retirement benefits alone, are reported to have been forced to continue working and thus surrender social security payments.

2. The benefit structure, under which the level of benefits is governed by average salaries and length of employment under the system. Critics say those who received the biggest salaries and had the steadiest employment, and who are likely to need help the least, get the biggest payments.

3. The "new start" provision of the present system under which some persons who contributed only 18 months could retire under maximum benefits the rest of their lives, in some cases getting back more than 200 times their contributions. Under this clause, other workers could contribute almost 10 years and not get a penny back if they left covered employment.

4. Duplicating benefits, under which some persons receive not only social security payments, but veterans, civil service, railroad retirement and other government-sponsored pensions.

5. The problem of the present aged. Of about eight million persons over 65, only about 2½ million are now receiving retirement payments.

6. The "new start" provision of the present system under which some persons who contributed only 18 months could retire under maximum benefits the rest of their lives, in some cases getting back more than 200 times their contributions. ### Pilots Rescued As Storm Downs Marine Planes

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 8 (AP)—A storm at sea forced three Marine Corps planes down north of Cuba today and their one-man crews were saved by surface vessels.

Five other planes in the flight from Puerto Rico to Miami landed at Homestead, Fla., where one crashed because of a fuel shortage. The pilot was safe.

The airmen forced down at sea and rescued were Capt. William H. Johnson and Lt. Thomas H. White, picked up by the Miami-bound steamship Navarro, and Lt. Forest G. Dawson, who was taken aboard the yacht Sea Dog IV.

U.S. Will Throw Weight Into New Disarming Effort

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Nov. 8 (AP)—The United States throws its weight tomorrow into new U.N. disarmament efforts.

Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., chief U. S. delegate, and his advisers worked over the weekend on the final draft of his Monday morning speech before the U.N. Assembly Political Committee.

There was no indication tonight how far Lodge will go in answering the Soviet Union's new tough talk.

After Soviet Delegate Andrei Vishinsky lashed out at NATO and U. S. overseas bases Friday, one of Lodge's aides said the American delegate planned to dwell mostly on the positive aspects of a 14-nation resolution calling for the U.N. Disarmament Commission to keep up its efforts in the coming year.

The resolution, co-sponsored by the United States and other Western countries in the 12-nation commission, reiterates the view that a gradual balanced arms reduction program would bring savings that could be put into an international fund to help underdeveloped areas of the world.

Western countries have not relaxed their demand that there not be any declaration outlawing atomic weapons, as proposed by the Russians, until a fool-proof control system is set up. The Russians reject that view.

Vishinsky also served notice he will make a major Soviet policy speech within the next two weeks when he talks on a separate Russian item demanding an outright one-third cut in armaments and the prohibition of atomic weapons.

GOP Challenged To Permit Probe Of White Affair

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (AP)—Stephen A. Mitchell, Democratic national chairman, today challenged the Eisenhower administration to let a grand jury investigate its charges that former President Truman promoted Harry Dexter White in the face of FBI reports that White was a Soviet spy.

Mitchell, speaking on the television program "Man of the Week" (CBS), accused Atty-Gen. Brownell of "low politics" in voicing the charge during a speech in Chicago Friday.

"The Republicans may have an awful lot of porcupines before they get through with this," Mitchell said. He predicted that the American people ultimately would recognize the speech as "a political smokescreen."

Bitter Political Fight

Brownell's speech, which has whipped up a bitter political fight, charged that Truman promoted White in 1946 from the post of assistant secretary of the Treasury to director of the International Monetary Fund, also under the Treasury, despite two FBI warnings White was a spy.

White died in 1948, a week after he went before the House Un-American Activities Committee and denied testimony he was a member of an "elite" group in the Communist apparatus.

Truman, who is en route to New York by train from his home in Independence, Mo., has assailed Brownell's speech as political, and denied any recollection of such FBI warnings.

Mitchell said Brownell, if he believed the charges, should have been addressing a grand jury instead of a public audience. Brownell spoke before the Executive Club of Chicago.

"One Or The Other"

"If someone took advantage of the (former) President of the United States in the charges about the dead Mr. White, those people ought to be prosecuted," Mitchell said. "Either someone took advantage of Mr. Truman, or is it the suggestion that the President was furthered the interests of a foreign power (in promoting White and keeping him in the government as a high Treasury Department aide) . . . or that he was part of a Communist activity?"

"It has to be one or the other," Mitchell added, and said of Brownell, "let him go before a grand jury" with the evidence and get its answer.

Action Follows Reds' Stalling; Protest Seen

New Get-Tough Policy Invoked; Korea Parley Planners Meet Again

PANMUNJOM, Monday, Nov. 9 (AP)—The chairman of the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission will meet Communist leaders face-to-face in their own ballroom today in an effort to resume the stalled prisoner of war explanation program.

The decision to send Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya of India to the Reds' advanced headquarters in Kaesong, North Korea, this afternoon was reached at a 55-minute meeting of the commission today.

PANMUNJOM, Monday, Nov. 9 (AP)—The Indian command, acting swiftly under a new get-tough policy toward the Communists, last night canceled today's explanations to anti-Communist Chinese in a showdown over what prisoners should be interviewed.

A quick protest from the Reds was expected at 10 a.m. today (8 p.m. Sunday, EST) when the full Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission (NNRC) was scheduled to meet.

The NNRC also was to consider a petition from an 11-man committee purporting to represent 22 Americans, 1 Briton and 332 South Koreans whom the Reds say refuse repatriation. The petitioners asked that incoming letters and periodicals be censored because the mail allegedly was being used to "intimidate, coerce, slander and bribe" the prisoners into going home.

Parley Planners Meet

Nearly Allied and Communist negotiators start their third week of efforts to settle arrangements for convening the overdue Korean peace conference. Staff advisers were meeting in secret sessions to fix an agenda on the time place and composition of the conference.

The Indian-Communist dispute stemmed directly from the Red slowdown tactics in prisoner interviews which began last Wednesday. On that day the Communists interviewed only half of a 500-man compound of anti-Communist Chinese—but never called the remainder back for interviews.

Cumberland-Ridgeley Bridge Seen As Reality By Next Year

SHOW GUEST — Mrs. Bonnie Slover, associate merchandising editor of Glamour, the magazine for the girl with a job, will be guest commentator at a special Lazarus fashion show tonight for the benefit of the Sacred Heart Hospital. The showing will emphasize furs and formals.

A modern bridge across the Potomac River at Cumberland is foreseen by next year, State Roads Commission officials revealed here.

G. Bates Chaires, district engineer for the Maryland State Roads Commission in Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties, said preparations are being made now for the erection of the new span.

The bridge will be a superstructure erected over the Cumberland-Ridgeley industrial dam which is a part of the flood control project. Its Cumberland approach will be from Greene Street through Riverside Park.

The span will be placed on concrete substructures which are being built into the dam by the E. J. Albrecht Company, the contractor on the dam, and designed into the overall plan by the Corps of U. S. Army Engineers.

Chaires said the State Roads Commissions of Maryland and West Virginia have agreed on the plans for the bridge.

The SRC engineers are keeping note of the progress of the contractor on the dam, who is ahead of his schedule because of favorable weather conditions.

It is planned that the blueprints for the bridge will be completed soon and the contract awarded this winter.

This will enable the contractor for the bridge to have his steel ordered and delivered to the site before the dam is completed.

By these methods the bridge contractor will be ready to start work just as soon as the dam is ready. The new structure will replace the narrow, wooden-deck Blue Bridge.

Chaires said SRC officials were this past week checking the Potomac River Bridge site at Cumberland and also at Kitzmiller.

Engineers have set the construction details for a new bridge across the North Branch of the Potomac at Kitzmiller, replacing an old-type span.

It will be wider and will be placed at a location other than the present one, Chaires added.

The contract on the new bridge there will be let this winter, the district engineer said. Estimates on the project show the span will cost approximately $300,000.

Five Former Commanders Of Company G To Be Honored

Five former commanders of Company G will be honored at a get-together of 29th Division veterans Thursday at 8 p. m. in the Blue Room of the Cumberland Brewing Company.

The affair is being sponsored by William Kirby Post, 29th Division Association, and will be the first reunion of 29th Division veterans since World War II.

Among the past commanders of Company G to be present are J. Donald Macfarlane, Harry E. Flook Sr., Judge George Henderson and Randolph Millholland, all of this city, and Vincent Prinup, of New York.

Judge Henderson commanded the company of local national Guardsmen during World War I, before being assigned to 115th Infantry Battalion headquarters while in France.

Macfarlane was one of the first commanders after Company G was reorganized after World War I. Flook, a retired colonel in the Army Reserve, headed the unit for many years before being given battalion officer status.

When Flook was promoted to First Battalion Headquarters, Millholland succeeded him as commanding officer of Company G. Millholland headed the unit for nearly 25 years, leaving with the company when it was federalized into service in January 1941 for World War II service. He is now a colonel and commanding officer of the 115th Infantry Regiment, of which Company G's successors, Company C, and Headquarters Company, First Battalion, are a part.

Prinup, a frequent visitor to the local home of H. Frank Hinz, the first sergeant of Company G who left Cumberland with the outfit and was one of the few to stay with it throughout World War II, commanded the company in Germany.

Raymond Whitehair and James McGee are in charge of arrangements for Kirby Post.

der of the 29th Division Association, will attend the reunion along with other department officers.

The co-chairmen added that any ex-service man who served with the 29th Division on the Mexican Border in World Wars I and II, and during peacetime, is welcome to attend.

Co-ordinating Meet Planned By Scouters

A coordinating meeting of the scouters of Cumberland District will be held Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. in the conference room of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant.

Following a brief meeting, the group will be divided into three sections. The first unit, composed of institutional representatives and operating committees, will confer with William T. Allee, district commissioner. Progress reports will be presented and plans made for future activities.

Scoutmasters, assistants and troop committeemen will compose the second group, while the third unit will be made up of cubmasters, assistants, den mothers and pack committeemen. Plans for games, ceremonies and achievement aids will be discussed under the direction of Henry Lowery, district chairman, and his staff.

Allee said the coordinating meeting was inaugurated in order to eliminate a number of different meetings during the month and in the belief that the more people who attend a meeting tends for a greater exchange of ideas.

The final session of the Cub Leaders training course will be held Tuesday at 7:30 p. m.—led.

Song Of Twilight

Government detour charts indicate most fenders are dented at twilight.

Could be the fault of the traffic gendarmes. Just a song at twilight is now a whistle.

Most of the time it's the driver's reflexes which are lower than the heels on carpet slippers.

But there's nobody doing any reckless driving on Fifth Avenue at these prices. The speed limit is two spokes an hour.

Where you get into driving hassles is out in the wide open spaces with the narrow roads. There is nothing more foolish than trying to beat a train to its own tracks.

A fellow has a bad day at the office and is liable to be handed a bad time at home. Half-way between the two is where he gets into driving trouble. He doesn't know which way to turn.

Cumberland-Ridgeley Bridge Seen As Reality By Next Year

SHOW GUEST — Mrs. Bonnie Silver, associate merchandising editor of Glamour, the magazine for the girl with a job, will be guest commentator at a special Lazarus fashion show tonight for the benefit of the Sacred Heart Hospital. The showing will emphasize furs and formals.

A modern bridge across the Potomac River at Cumberland is foreseen by next year, State Roads Commission officials revealed here.

G. Bates Chaires, district engineer for the Maryland State Roads Commission in Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties, said preparations are being made now for the erection of the new span.

The bridge will be a superstructure erected over the Cumberland-Ridgeley industrial dam which is a part of the flood control project. Its Cumberland approach will be from Greene Street through Riverside Park.

The span will be placed on concrete substructures which are being built into the dam by the E. J. Albrecht Company, the contractor on the dam, and designed into the overall plan by the Corps of U. S. Army Engineers.

Chaires said the State Roads Commissions of Maryland and West Virginia have agreed on the plans for the bridge.

The SRC engineers are keeping note of the progress of the contractor on the dam, who is ahead of his schedule because of favorable weather conditions.

It is planned that the blueprints for the bridge will be completed soon and the contract awarded this winter.

This will enable the contractor for the bridge to have his steel ordered and delivered to the site before the dam is completed.

By these methods the bridge contractor will be ready to start work just as soon as the dam is ready.

The new structure will replace the narrow, wooden-deck Blue Bridge.

Chaires said SRC officials were in Allegany and Garrett Counties this past week checking the Potomac River Bridge site at Cumberland and also at Kitzmiller.

Engineers have set the construction details for a new bridge across the North Branch of the Potomac at Kitzmiller, replacing an old-type span.

It will be wider and will be placed at a location other than the present one, Chaires added.

The contract on the new bridge there will be let this winter, the district engineer said. Estimates on the project show the span will cost approximately $300,000.

At least one-half of the Eskimos in the world never have seen a snow house.

Five Former Commanders Of Company G To Be Honored

Five former commanders of Company G will be honored at a get-together of 29th Division veterans Thursday at 8 p. m. in the Blue Room of the Cumberland Brewing Company.

The affair is being sponsored by William Kirby Post, 29th Division Association, and will be the first reunion of 29th Division veterans since World War II.

Among the past commanders of Company G to be present are J. Donald Macfarlane, Harry E. Flook Sr., Judge George Henderson and Randolph Millholland, all of this city, and Vincent Prinup, of New York.

Judge Henderson commanded the company of local national Guardsmen during World War I, before being assigned to 115th Infantry Battalion headquarters while in France.

Macfarlane was one of the first commanders after Company G was reorganized after World War I. Flook, a retired colonel in the Army Reserve, headed the unit for many years before being given battalion officer status.

When Flook was promoted to First Battalion Headquarters, Millholland succeeded him as commanding officer of Company G. Millholland headed the unit for nearly 25 years, leaving with the company when it was federalized into service in January 1941 for World War II service. He is now a colonel and commanding officer of the 115th Infantry Regiment, of which Company G's successors, Company C, and Headquarters Company, First Battalion, are a part.

Prinup, a frequent visitor to the local home of H. Frank Hinz, the first sergeant of Company G who left Cumberland with the outfit and was one of the few to stay with it throughout World War II, will attend the reunion along with other department officers.

Raymond Whitehair and James McGee are in charge of arrangements for Kirby Post.

Co-ordinating Meet Planned By Scouters

A coordinating meeting of the scouters of Cumberland District will be held Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. in the conference room of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant.

Following a brief meeting, the group will be divided into three sections. The first unit, composed of institutional representatives and operating committees, will confer with William T. Allee, district commissioner. Progress reports will be presented and plans made for future activities.

Scoutmasters, assistants and troop committeemen will compose the second group, while the third unit will be made up of cubmasters, assistants, den mothers and pack committeemen. Plans for games, ceremonies and achievement aids will be discussed under the direction of Henry Lowery, district chairman, and his staff.

Allee said the coordinating meeting was inaugurated in order to eliminate a number of different meetings during the month and in the belief that the more people who attend a meeting tends to a greater exchange of ideas.

The final session of the Cub Leaders training course will be held Tuesday at 7:30 p. m.—fied.

The co-chairmen added that any ex-service man who served with the 29th Division on the Mexican Border in World Wars I and II, and during peacetime, is welcome to attend.

M'Carthy To Seek Reds In GE Plant

Security Probe To Be Broadened

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) said today he expects to hold closed hearings in Schenectady, N. Y., later this week in a search for any Communists who may have infiltrated the General Electric Co. plant there.

The projected hearings by the Senate investigations subcommittee, headed by McCarthy, will mark the broadening of a military security probe that has centered on the Army's Ft. Monmouth, N. J., Signal Corps laboratory.

In expanding the investigation to include private firms doing secret defense work for the government, McCarthy said, the subcommittee first will give "major attention" to the GE plant at Schenectady.

"Preliminary reports from the staff indicate the situation may be rather bad there," he told newsmen, adding that GE handles work not only for the Signal Corps but for other military services.

He said the staff reports indicate that Communists may have infiltrated the plant and obtained access to vital defense materials produced there.

Even as McCarthy planned hearings in Schenectady, a Senate internal security subcommittee "task force" was preparing to start a similar investigation in Pittsburgh.

This group, under the chairmanship of Sen. John M. Butler (R-Md.), will start hearings Monday. The initial session is to be closed, but two days of public hearings are scheduled later in the week.

Butler said the Pittsburgh hearings will be the first phase of an extensive inquiry into the problem of communism in labor organizations. Further hearings are planned later in other Eastern industrial centers, as well as in Washington.

Weekend Traffic Accidents Kill Six In Maryland

[By The Associated Press]

At least six persons lost their lives in Maryland traffic accidents over the weekend. Three of the deaths were attributed to the severe snowstorm that lashed the state Friday and early Saturday.

Dead were: Willie Lee Bowie, 39, of Frederickburg, Va., killed Sunday when his motorcycle struck the left front bumper of a car slowing to a stop on the Crouses Mill Road, one mile north of Middleburg in Carroll County.

Ralph W. Shipley, 34, of Baltimore, killed Saturday night on U. S. 40, one mile south of Aberdeen, when struck by a car while he was getting a tow rope out of the trunk of his car to help another motorist.

Loren Harris Pierson, 20, of Luverne, Minn., 20-year-old machinist mate stationed at the Patuxent River Naval Air Station, killed Saturday night when his car crashed into a gasoline tank truck on State Route 235 at Hollywood, Md.

Mrs. Donald T. Kinzer, 25, of near Williamsport, killed Saturday when her car skidded on the icy road and crashed into a freight locomotive at a Williamsport grade crossing.

Robert Larabee, Jr., 8, and his sister, Christine, 10, of Harundale, fatally injured Friday night when their car skidded on the snow-covered Baltimore-Washington Expressway and crashed into a bridge.

Sister Marie slipped into a back room and called police. Then she grabbed a pistol. She pointed it at the gunman. The gunman grabbed Florence, held her in front of him and made Marie surrender her weapon.

Florence ordered her bulldog to bite the gunman. The dog snarled and rushed. The gunman pointed his gun at the onrushing dog. First Florence, then Marie bumped the gunman's arm, causing his shots to go wild.

Infuriated, the gunman aimed his gun at Marie. The sisters grabbed him, wrestled with him. The gun fired, wounding the gunman in the kneecap.

Bleeding, he snatched up $29, stumbled into a car with a teenage companion and roared away. Officers found the car with the man, suffering intense pain and greatly weakened, only a few miles from the holdup scene.

Sheriff's Deputy Rex McBride identified him as Bill Dryer, 20, of Los Angeles. McBride said the man had only one thing to say on the way to the Mercy Hospital: "I'll never hold up another woman."

Suburban New York areas on the south shore of Long Island faced days of work repairing washed-out home foundations and cleaning up silt dumped by the high tides, which had climbed five to six feet above normal water levels and forced evacuation of thousands of families on the New York, New Jersey and New England coasts.

Several hundred persons along the south shore of Long Island and at Keansburg on the New Jersey coast remained in emergency shelters because of home damage. Seabright, N. J., which like Keansburg was hit hard—was back to normal.

Meanwhile heavy snow remains over parts of the East, measuring 10 inches at Harrisburg, Pa., 7 at Binghamton, N. Y., and 6 at Buffalo.

Italy Blames British For Trieste Rioting

ROME, Nov. 8 (AP)—The Italian government bluntly blamed British commanders of the Trieste civil police tonight for last week's riots which killed six persons and wounded many others.

A 2,500-word government report said the bloodshed "was caused by riot squad tactics of the police which were characterized by extreme severity and the hasty use of firearms, under circumstances which did not justify such measures."

Six Feared Drowned In Michigan Storm

MT. CLEMENS, Mich., Nov. 8 (AP)—One body was recovered today and four or five other persons were feared drowned in the wind-whipped waters of the St. Clair River.

The body of John J. Jesky, 37, of Detroit, was found floating near Harsens Island, where the river empties into Lake St. Clair.

Jesky and his brother-in-law, Walter Wells, 28, also of Detroit, went duck hunting yesterday despite 40-mile northeast winds. No trace has been found of Wells.

Their small boat was found capsized. Duck decoy wires were tangled around Jesky's body.

Three fishermen who set out in a small cabin cruiser yesterday afternoon also were missing. State police found what was believed to be wreckage from their boat.

Coast Guardsmen also found an empty duck hunting boat which could not be accounted for.

Dairymen Rap U. S. Butter-Buying Tactics

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (AP)—Some of the nation's dairymen are complaining that Uncle Sam is buying the good butter and leaving low quality and undergrade butter for consumers.

This practice, they say, is causing housewives, disgruntled with off-flavor butter, to turn to substitutes. The result, they say, is a shrinking market for butter, bigger surpluses, and more headaches for milk producers.

These complaints have been received by the Agriculture Department and were heard by the House Agriculture Committee during its recent tour of the Midwest seeking farmers' views on new federal farm-aid programs.

British Cars To China

LONDON, Nov. 8 (AP)—Britain has lifted its ban on export of small automobiles to Communist China, the government announced today.

A board of trade spokesman said the United States, France and other Western governments had joined in lifting the embargo.

AMPUTEE "PRAYED" FOR THIS MOMENT — Robert Smith, 22, first quadruple amputee of the Korean War, poses at his home in Takoma Park, Md., with his wife, Barbara, and their week-old son, Don Eugene. The happy father said he had "prayed for this moment." Smith was wounded in Korea on Nov. 27, 1950, and was so badly frostbitten by the time he was found that his hands and feet had to be amputated. Returned to the U. S., he met Barbara, who was distributing magazines to hospital patients.

Britain Honors War Dead

LONDON, Nov. 8 (AP)—Britain paid reverent tribute today to the dead of two world wars. Queen Elizabeth II laid a wreath on the Cenotaph Shrine in Whitehall and veterans paraded to services in city squares and village greens throughout the land.

The Holland tunnel was named after its builder, Clifford M. Holland.

Cambodian King Ends Five-Month Voluntary Exile

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia, Nov. 8 (AP)—Booming cannon and cheers of thousands of residents of this capital greeted King Norodom Sihanouk today as he returned from five months of voluntary exile undertaken to obtain from France the complete freedom of Cambodia. Boats in the port added the wail of sirens to the clamorous welcome.

The King has been living at Siem Reap near the famous ruins of Angkor. His return ends a French-Cambodian crisis which began June 15 when the King suddenly left for Bangkok. He returned to Cambodia a week later but made it clear he would not enter the capital again until Cambodia obtained complete independence.

After difficult negotiations with the French, Cambodia obtained satisfaction in political, judicial and military domains. The military section of the agreement—the most difficult to reach—made the King commander-in-chief of all forces stationed in Cambodia, troop three battalions of Cambodian troops provisionally at the disposition of the French command, and states that the defense of Cambodia would be assured by a royal Cambodian army of 12 battalions and 3,000 reserve troops. The agreement gave the French a concession they particularly wanted:

The right to keep a mobile force on the east bank of the Mekong River from where it can move quickly to meet any new threat by the Communist-led Viet-minh.

Farm Youngsters Have Breakfast With King, Queen

CHICAGO, Nov. 8 (AP)—Two small girls and their smaller brother today got the treat of their young lives. They had breakfast with the King and Queen of Greece.

The youngsters are the children of an Illinois farm couple who treated King Paul to a fried chicken dinner and a farm tour yesterday.

A cold kept Queen Frederika from accompanying her 51-year-old husband to the Oswego, Ill., farm of the J. George Smiths.

Nannette Smith, 11, wept when she learned the Queen's doctor had told her to rest in the $52-a-day royal suite in Chicago's Drake Hotel.

So last night, the 36-year-old Queen invited the Smiths to come to breakfast at the Drake today, and to bring their three oldest children, Nannette, Cheryl, 9, and Kent, 5. The Smiths also have an 18-year-old daughter, Lois.

40 Per Cent Ballot Seen In California

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 8 (AP)—The registrar of voters tonight forecast a 40 per cent ballot at Tuesday's congressional election, a contest which will be watched sharply by Republicans and Democrats alike.

The special election, in the 24th District, will be the final odd-year race for a seat in Congress. Four candidates are in the contest, two Republicans and two Democrats.

Spurred by recent victories in Wisconsin and New Jersey, Democrats are hopeful that the vote will whittle down a little farther the already slim Republican leadership in the House.

Kidnaped Baby's Parents Reunited Following Appeal

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Nov. 8 (AP)—Sailor Richard Duane Stammer, 20, and his wife Shirley, 18, whose 5-month-old boy and a baby sitter have been missing since Friday night, ran weeping into each other's arms at the Evansville airport today.

The red-eyed young wife came from a radio station where she had appealed to Miss Wanda White 26, the baby sitter, to put warmer clothing on Richard Jr.

Stammer, his neck crisscrossed with razor nicks, was given emergency leave Saturday night from the USS Northampton and flew home.

The moustached young sailor said, "I've been too nervous to sleep and too dried-up inside to eat."

The petite mother was wearing a black and red checked coat which indirectly made possible the kidnaping. She had said she left the baby with Miss White in order to work at a drive-in restaurant to earn money to buy another coat.

Meanwhile, Police Chief Kirby Stevens canceled all leaves for Evansville's 30 city detectives and asserted they will work night and day until they find the baby sitter and the child.

He said it wasn't certain that Wanda White is the woman's name. Police had information that she had been married to men named Doughty, Townsend and Mitchell. Stevens said she had lived in Elkhart until early October with a man listed only as "F. White."

M'Carthy To Seek Reds In GE Plant

Security Probe To Be Broadened

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) said today he expects to hold closed hearings in Schenectady, N. Y., later this week in a search for any Communists who may have infiltrated the General Electric Co. plant there.

The projected hearings by the Senate investigations subcommittee, headed by McCarthy, will mark the broadening of a military security probe that has centered on the Army's Ft. Monmouth, N. J., Signal Corps laboratory.

In expanding the investigation to include private firms doing secret defense work for the government, McCarthy said, the subcommittee first will give "major attention" to the GE plant at Schenectady.

"Preliminary reports from the staff indicate the situation may be rather bad there," he told newsmen, adding that GE handles work not only for the Signal Corps but for other military services.

He said the staff reports indicate that Communists may have infiltrated the plant and obtained access to vital defense materials produced there.

Even as McCarthy planned hearings in Schenectady, a Senate internal security subcommittee "task force" was preparing to start a similar investigation in Pittsburgh.

This group, under the chairmanship of Sen. John M. Butler (R-Md.), will start hearings Monday. The initial session is to be closed, but two days of public hearings are scheduled later in the week.

Butler said the Pittsburgh hearings will be the first phase of an extensive inquiry into the problem of communism in labor organizations. Further hearings are planned later in other Eastern industrial centers, as well as in Washington.

Gen. Reber Takes Over

HEIDELBERG, Germany, Nov. 8 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Miles Reber arrived here today to assume command of the U. S. Army's Western area command, which includes the big U. S. defense arsenal in the French zone. Gen. Reber succeeds Brig. Gen. Oliver W. Hughes.

Northeast Digs Out After Storm

(By The Associated Press)

Northeastern states Sunday were digging out of a surprise pre-winter storm that created havoc for two days and cost at least 19 lives.

There wasn't much more rain or snow Sunday around the nation, except light snow in the lower Great Lakes region. Elsewhere generally the weather was clear after heavy snows, strong winds and raging flood tides which over-spread eastern seaboard states Friday night and Saturday.

Suburban New York areas on the south shore of Long Island faced days of work repairing washed-out home foundations and cleaning up silt dumped by the high tides, which had climbed five to six feet above normal water levels and forced evacuation of thousands of families on the New York, New Jersey and New England coasts.

Several hundred persons along the south shore of Long Island and at Keansburg on the New Jersey coast remained in emergency shelters because of home damage. Seabright, N. J., which like Keansburg was hit hard—was back to normal.

Meanwhile heavy snow remains over parts of the East, measuring 10 inches at Harrisburg, Pa., 7 at Binghamton, N. Y., and 6 at Buffalo.

Italy Blames British For Trieste Rioting

ROME, Nov. 8 (AP)—The Italian government tonight blamed British commanders of the Trieste civil police for last week's riots which killed six persons and wounded many others.

A 2,500-word government report said the bloodshed "was caused by riot squad tactics of the police which were characterized by extreme severity and the hasty use of firearms, under circumstances which did not justify such measures."

Weekend Traffic Accidents Kill Six In Maryland

(By The Associated Press)

At least six persons lost their lives in Maryland traffic accidents over the weekend. Three of the deaths were attributed to the severe snowstorm that lashed the state Friday and early Saturday.

Dead were: Willie Lee Bowie, 39, of Fredericksburg, Va., killed Sunday when his motorcycle struck the left front bumper of a car slowing to a stop on the Crouses Mill Road, one mile north of Middleburg in Carroll County.

Ralph W. Shipley, 34, of Baltimore, killed Saturday night on U. S. 40, one mile south of Aberdeen, when struck by a car while he was getting a tow rope out of the trunk of his car to help another motorist.

Loren Harris Pierson, 20, of Luverne, Minn., 20-year-old machinist mate stationed at the Patuxent River Naval Air Station, killed Saturday night when his car crashed into a gasoline tank truck on State Route 235 at Hollywood, Md.

Mrs. Donald T. Kinzer, 25, of near Williamsport, killed Saturday when her car skidded on the icy road and crashed into a freight locomotive at a Williamsport grade crossing.

Robert Larabee, Jr., 8, and his sister, Christine, 10, of Harundale, fatally injured Friday night when their car skidded on the snow-covered Baltimore-Washington Expressway and crashed into a bridge.

Sisters Rough On Holdup Man

LOS BANOS, Calif., Nov. 8 (AP)—Two middle-aged sisters operating a filling station nine miles west of Los Banos looked up last night into the gun of a holdup man.

Florence Taden went for the safe as ordered.

Sister Marie slipped into a back room and called police. Then she grabbed a pistol. She pointed it at the gunman. The gunman grabbed Florence, held her in front of him and made Marie surrender her weapon.

Florence ordered her bulldog to bite the gunman. The dog snarled and rushed. The gunman pointed his gun at the onrushing dog. First Florence, then Marie bumped the gunman's arm, causing his shots to go wild.

Infuriated, the gunman aimed his gun at Marie. The sisters grabbed him, wrestled with him. The gun fired, wounding the gunman in the kneecap.

Bleeding, he snatched up $29, stumbled into a car with a teenage companion and roared away. Officers found the car with the man, suffering intense pain and greatly weakened, only a few miles from the holdup scene.

Sheriff's Deputy Rex McBride identified him as Bill Dryer, 20, of Los Angeles. McBride said the man had only one thing to say on the way to the Mercy Hospital: "I'll never hold up another woman."

Six Feared Drowned In Michigan Storm

MT. CLEMENS, Mich., Nov. 8 (AP)—One body was recovered today and four or five other persons were feared drowned in the wind-whipped waters of the St. Clair River.

The body of John J. Jesky, 37, of Detroit, was found floating near Harsens Island, where the river empties into Lake St. Clair.

Jesky and his brother-in-law, Walter Wells, 28, also of Detroit, went duck hunting yesterday despite 40-mile northeast winds. No trace has been found of Wells. Their small boat was found capsized. Duck decoy wires were tangled around Jesky's body.

Three fishermen who set out in a small cabin cruiser yesterday afternoon also were missing. State police found what was believed to be wreckage from their boat.

Coast Guardsmen also found an empty duck hunting boat which could not be accounted for.

Dairymen Rap U. S. Butter-Buying Tactics

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (AP)—Some of the nation's dairymen are complaining that Uncle Sam is buying the good butter and leaving low quality and undergrade butter for consumers.

This practice, they say, is causing housewives, disgruntled with off-flavor butter, to turn to substitutes. The result, they say, is a shrinking market for butter, bigger surpluses, and more headaches for milk producers.

These complaints have been received by the Agriculture Department and were heard by the House Agriculture Committee during its recent tour of the Midwest seeking farmers' views on new federal farm-aid programs.

British Cars To China

LONDON, Nov. 8 (AP)—Britain has lifted its ban on export of small automobiles to Communist China, the government announced today. A board of trade spokesman said the United States, France and other Western governments had joined in lifting the embargo.

AMPUTEE "PRAYED" FOR THIS MOMENT — Robert Smith, 22, first quadruple amputee of the Korean War, poses at his home in Takoma Park, Md., with his wife, Barbara, and their week-old son, Don Eugene. The happy father said he had "prayed for this moment." Smith was wounded in Korea on Nov. 27, 1950, and was so badly frostbitten by the time he was found that his hands and feet had to be amputated. Returned to the U. S., he met Barbara, who was distributing magazines to hospital patients.

Cambodian King Ends Five-Month Voluntary Exile

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia, Nov. 8 (AP)—Booming cannon and cheers of thousands of residents of this capital greeted King Norodom Sihanouk today as he returned from five months of voluntary exile undertaken to obtain from France the complete freedom of Cambodia. Boats in the port added the wail of sirens to the clamorous welcome.

The King has been living at Siem Reap near the famous ruins of Angkor. His return ends a French-Cambodian crisis which began June 15 when the King suddenly left for Bangkok. He returned to Cambodia a week later but made it clear he would not enter the capital again until Cambodia obtained complete independence.

After difficult negotiations with the French, Cambodia obtained satisfaction in political, judicial and military domains. The military section of the agreement—the most difficult to reach—made the King commander-in-chief of all forces stationed in Cambodia, put three battalions of Cambodian troops provisionally at the disposal of the French command, and states that the defense of Cambodia would be assured by a royal Cambodian army of 12 battalions and 3,000 reserve troops. The agreement gave the French a concession they particularly wanted:

The right to keep a mobile force on the east bank of the Mekong River from where it can move quickly to meet any new threat by the Communist-led Vietnamese.

Farm Youngsters Have Breakfast With King, Queen

CHICAGO, Nov. 8 (AP)—Two small girls and their smaller brother today got the treat of their young lives. They had breakfast with the King and Queen of Greece.

The youngsters are the children of an Illinois farm couple who treated King Paul to a fried chicken dinner and a farm tour yesterday.

A cold kept Queen Frederika from accompanying her 51-year-old husband to the Oswego, Ill., farm of the J. George Smiths.

Nannette Smith, 11, wept when she learned the Queen's doctor had told her to rest in the $52-a-day royal suite in Chicago's Drake Hotel.

So last night, the 36-year-old Queen invited the Smiths to come to breakfast at the Drake today, and to bring their three oldest children, Nannette, Cheryl, 9, and Kent, 5. The Smiths also have an 18-day-old daughter, Lois.

40 Per Cent Ballot Seen In California

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 8 (AP)—The registrar of voters tonight forecast a 40 per cent ballot at Tuesday's congressional election, a contest which will be watched sharply by Republicans and Democrats alike.

The special election, in the 24th District, will be the final odd-year race for a seat in Congress. Four candidates are in the contest, two Republicans and two Democrats. Spurred by recent victories in Wisconsin and New Jersey, Democrats are hopeful that the vote will whittle down a little farther the already slim Republican leadership in the House.

Kidnaped Baby's Parents Reunited Following Appeal

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Nov. 8 (AP)—Sailor Richard Duane Stammer, 20, and his wife Shirley, 18, whose 5-month-old boy and a baby sitter have been missing since Friday night, ran weeping into each other's arms at the Evansville airport today.

The red-eyed young wife came from a radio station where she had appealed to Miss Wanda White 26, the baby sitter, to put warmer clothing on Richard Jr.

Stammer, his neck crisscrossed with razor nicks, was given emergency leave Saturday night from the USS Northampton and flew home.

The moustached young sailor said, "I've been too nervous to sleep and too dried-up inside to eat."

The petite mother was wearing a black and red checked coat which indirectly made possible the kidnaping. She had said she left the baby with Miss White in order to work at a drive-in restaurant to earn money to buy another coat.

Meanwhile, Police Chief Kirby Stevens canceled all leaves for Evansville's 30 city detectives and asserted they will work night and day until they find the baby sitter and the child.

He said it wasn't certain that Wanda White is the woman's name. Police had information that she had been married to men named Doughty, Townsend and Mitchell. Stevens said she had lived in Elkhart until early October with a man listed only as "F. White."

Philippine Election

American prestige is at stake in the conduct of the election tomorrow in the Philippines, often cited as the "show-case of democracy in the Pacific." American interests lie not so much in the outcome of the election as in the atmosphere in which it is carried out. The American ambassador to the island republic has maintained a strict "hands-off" course throughout the campaign.

An election marked by fraud or violence would be a severe black eye for America, viewed as the sponsor among nations of the Philippines. Worse, if the Liberal party now in power attempts to win unfairly, the result could be anything from the establishment of a near-dictatorship to a civil war, according to responsible newspaper correspondents.

Running for re-election is President Elpidio Quirino, 62, head of the Liberal party. A tough and skilled politician, Quirino is unwell; he is only recently back in the islands after two operations at Johns Hopkins Hospital. In his nevertheless energetic campaign he has pointed out that under his administration, "the national wealth has increased from 4 billion to 7.5 billion pesos;" that the budget is sound and so is the balance of trade; that a shipyard, big irrigation and hydro-electric projects, and a steel mill are under way.

Recently the Quirino campaign has taken on an anti-U. S. tinge, though his accomplishments have admittedly been assisted by U. S. funds and technical advice. This attitude appears to be a reaction from initial charges of the opposition that Quirino is tied to American apron strings and has mismanaged American aid, and from later appeals that the U. S. insure orderly elections. In 1949 the presidential election was marred by widespread intimidation of voters, fraud, violence.

The opposition candidate is Ramon Magsaysay, 42, who until his resignation on February 28 was Quirino's secretary of Defense. Generally given credit for stifling the Communist-led Hukbalahap rebellion, Magsaysay is believed presently to be the most popular man in the Philippines. In 1951, when Quirino's Liberals lost all nine of the Senate seats contested, Magsaysay used the army to supervise the elections, which turned out to be relatively fair and peaceful.

Seven days after Magsaysay resigned, ostensibly over a dispute with Quirino on the fight against Communists, Quirino declared for re-election. And two days thereafter, Magsaysay became the candidate of the Nacionalista party.

Magsaysay has in his corner Brig. Gen. Carlos P. Romulo, former foreign minister, ambassador to the U. S., and permanent representative to the U. N., and his newly formed Democratic party. Romulo himself was a candidate briefly earlier this year, but dropped out to form a coalition with the Nacionalistas.

If Quirino should be re-elected, he could legally serve only two of the four years of his term. The Constitution limits presidents to eight consecutive years in office. Quirino as vice president moved up in 1947 when President Roxas died.

Stalling In Korea

It was the Communists' idea, this business of making prisoners who opposed repatriation listen to their persuasions over a 90-day period before being set free. The Reds refused to sign an armistice until this demand was granted. They also insisted on having the Operation Explanation supervised by a packed "neutral" commission two of whose five members were Communist nations.

They would never have insisted on these arrangements if they had not been confident of their ability to win over most of these reluctant prisoners. According to their propaganda, these men had been intimidated. They have been given a chance to prove this. But only two per cent of the Chinese and four per cent of the North Koreans so far urged to change their minds have done so. The others have continued to show violent hostility to the Reds. Much face has been lost.

So the Reds are now frequently in revolt against their own proposal. The "neutral" Communist members on the supervisory commission stalled proceedings at one stage by a walkout. Communist persuaders refused for 12 days to talk to willing Chinese prisoners and insisted that Indian custodial troops use force to make unwilling North Koreans listen.

When India overcame the opposition of North Korean prisoners, the Reds suspended the talks on another pretext. Meanwhile another pretext is being built up in charges of an American-directed "reign of terror" inside the compounds. These shenanigans obviously are inspired by overwhelming resistance of prisoners to all Red coercion.

At Panmunjom, meanwhile, the Reds are finding pretexts not to settle the time and place of the political conference which should have been under way by this time. It seems as if their present policy is to stall until outraged President Rhee of South Korea starts the war again, as he has threatened to do.

Long, Cold Winter

With November well under way, the feminine side of the household has already gone on record with the irrefutable word that now is the time to select a family Christmas card because in a few weeks the stocks will be depleted.

But that is only one of the signs and portents of the cold season. New York newspapers have already given out the results of the annual woolly bear survey, conducted among the small caterpillars which are found in the Hudson River Valley. These fuzzy crawlers have dark brown cummerbunds, and the width of the cummerbund determines the severity of the winter.

Disregarding the confusing statistics of the measuring process, the conclusion was that next winter will be more severe than last, but not as severe as what is termed a normal winter.

An Illinois man reports that the cost on a neighboring farmer's horse is beginning to assume thickness, and this means, he reports, that a cold winter is in the offing. But his wife adds that she saw this same horse trying to scratch his coat off on a tree last February, presumably having developed too heavy a pelt a year ago.

For what it's worth, one Washington correspondent reports that the exodus of squirrel, mink, chinchilla and the varying categories of fur from cold storage vaults is merely a precaution. If the winter's going to be cold, weatherwise, it's going to be hot in the capital socially.

Other prognostications are being issued daily, and what they all add up to is that the outlook is for a mild or severe winter, depending on how it turns out.

How To Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Overcoming Poor Circulation

The northerner who is afflicted with poor circulation or heart trouble looks to the sunny south when winter comes. Coldness adds to his difficulties because it constricts the blood vessels, whereas warmth opens the passageways to improve the flow. Those who can afford to make the trip are more comfortable and have less trouble walking.

Hardening of the arteries is the most common cause of poor circulation. The leg vessels are affected primarily and the earliest manifestations are coldness and pain in the feet. The distress is mistaken easily for arch trouble and many victims continue to buy new shoes and arch supports until they discover that poor circulation is responsible. As the condition progresses cramps develop in the calf of the right or left leg after walking a block or two. On stopping for a few moments pain subsides and the individual is able to proceed an equal distance before the distress returns (intermittent claudication). This occurrence is a sign that circulation is adequate except when demands for blood are increased by exercise. When untreated, it may progress so that pain is noted even when resting.

Many factors aggravate or hasten the progress of arteriosclerosis in the lower extremities. Cold reduces the blood flow. Hence, those remaining up north should avoid overexposure and wear warm clothes and heavier hose and gloves. Nicotine also constricts the vessels and therefore smoking is taboo. Trivial injuries such as occur when a brick falls on the foot or when a toe is stubbed may pave the way for gangrene. The same can be said of applying strong salves or ointments to eliminate ringworm. These products burn the skin and, when circulation is inadequate, healing is delayed and sometimes never takes place. Blisters and minor wounds also have an adverse effect. Extreme care in manicuring the toenails and paring calluses and corns will prevent unnecessary cuts. Properly fitting shoes and hose ward off rubbing and blister formation. These precautions are necessary because the life of tissues in bloodless limbs is in a precarious position.

During this critical period, nature is doing her best to form new blood vessels that by-pass the obstruction. Anatomical studies on many extremities have shown, for example, that in 438 distinct arterial occlusions new detour passageways had developed in all but two. In some instances the internal diameters of the new leg vessels were as large as the old, proving that they are capable of replacing the old. The lesson to be learned is to use care during the period that nature is constructing these vessels.

Infections also upset the balance. This calls for good foot hygiene. A daily bath is in order; the feet should be dried thoroughly followed by application of a suitable cold cream to soften the skin. Handle the feet as prized possessions by giving them meticulous care.

TOMORROW: Simultaneous attacks of psoriasis and arthritis.

ATOMIC COCKTAIL.

Mrs. T. writes: My mother has been suffering from nausea ever since her doctor gave her an atomic cocktail a few weeks ago for a thyroid condition. Can you tell me why this has happened?

REPLY

Nausea and vomiting do not occur unless these symptoms are of psychological origin. The amount of atomic material in these cocktails is infinitesimal and has little or no chemical effect upon the body. On the other hand, the user knows that the substance has been prepared in an atom smasher and may become excited or worried after the material is taken.

TRANSFUSIONS NEEDED

L. W. writes: Are transfusions needed in severe stomach hemorrhages?

REPLY

Yes, when hemorrhage is severe or the blood count has fallen to a dangerously low level. On the other hand, when hemorrhage occurs in a young individual and is not profuse, many physicians prefer to give nature a chance because there always is a possibility that transfusions will increase blood pressure and stimulate bleeding.

BRONCHITIS

J. Z. writes: Can bronchitis result from sinus trouble?

REPLY

Yes; long standing sinusitis is one of several causes of chronic bronchitis. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on bronchitis.

UNVACCINATED

Mrs. L. writes: I'm 37 and have never been vaccinated against any disease. Is this unusual?

REPLY

Yes, in this country but not in the more backward nations. You have profited by the fact that nearly everyone else has been vaccinated, which protects them from diseases which ordinarily would be passed on to you.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Eisenhower On Guard That History Will Not Repeat; Burgess Brings Chicago Bank Spokesman Into Treasury; Virginia Democrats Sore At Senator Byrd

WASHINGTON—Most significant part of President Eisenhower's statement after the New York-New Jersey election defeats was that the United States didn't want to go back to 1892.

Prior to that press conference, the President had done some reading of history. And obviously he was impressed with certain possible parallels between his own administration and that of another Republican president, Benjamin Harrison, who defeated Grover Cleveland in 1888 then was swept out of office just four years later by Grover Cleveland and Adlai Stevenson.

What happened during those four years of Republican rule makes highly interesting reading. No wonder Ike remembered it. Harrison became king of the spoilsmen, changed 31,000 out of 55,000 postmasters, was the darling of the industrialists, passed the McKinley High Tariff Act. Meanwhile farmers stormed at the big business policies of the new administration.

Two years after taking office, his resentment against the Republicans was so great that the Democrats carried the House of Representatives by an overwhelming majority. Two years later—1892—the Republicans were thrown out of Washington completely.

That was the history Ike has been reading. That was why he told newsmen he thought the Republican party would have to recapture the independent, semi-Democratic voter.

Straddling Two Elephants

Close friends say that more than ever the President now realizes the division inside the Republican party; that he has the choice of siding with the extreme right wing, the isolationists, the high-tariffites, the low taxes and budget-balancers; or siding with the liberal, non-isolationist wing in favor of aid to Europe, high taxes, a certain amount of farm subsidies.

"The trouble with Ike," remarked one Republican friend, "is that he's been like the chorus girl who proposed to Dr. Einstein. 'With your brains and my beauty,' she said, 'think what children we could have.'"

"But," replied Einstein, "suppose they had my looks and your brains."

"Ike has been trying to please both wings of the Republican party," concluded his friend. "The result is he's pleased neither. His product has had Eisenhower's looks and the chorus girl's brains. Now he's got to choose one side or the other."

Bankers' Policies

The difficulty Ike will have in deserting the 1892 wing of the Republican party and winning back the independent, pro-Democratic voters is indicated by a recent conversation that took place in Chicago.

Randolph Burgess, the National City Bank official now in the Treasury to handle the public debt, was in Chicago to confer with the bankers regarding the amount of interest to be charged on the next issue of government bonds.

The Treasury under able Secretary George Humphrey has followed a different policy from Henry Morgenthau and John Snyder. They fixed their own interest rates, let the bankers yell if they didn't like it. The bankers had to come to Washington, no one went to them.

But Secretary Humphrey, head of the Mark Hanna Company, founded by the famous backer of William McKinley and the high-tariff policies built up in 1892, feels differently. He has set interest rates that have been a boon to bankers.

And while Burgess was in Chicago conferring over these interest rates, the bankers complained that they were not represented in the Treasury regarding debt management. The New York bankers were represented through Burgess and the National City Bank, they pointed out, but not Chicago. So Burgess promptly picked David M. Kennedy of the Continental Illinois Trust Co., and a few days later swore him in as an assistant to the secretary of the Treasury.

Kennedy's appointment will not be subject to confirmation by the Senate. Unlike Charles E. Wilson of General Motors, he is not selling his stock in Continental Trust, so is being appointed to a special advisory position. Yet, his influence will be tremendous on the economic life of the nation. He will be in the same category as Randolph Burgess, who is also in a special appointment category and who has not given up his pension with the National City Bank.

This is bound to cause sparks in the Senate next January. Senators Kerr of Oklahoma and Douglas of Illinois have already protested this procedure, pointing out that bankers have no right to be above the law, and that the big bankers who now control management of the public debt have increased interest rates for the benefit of the taxpayers.

Senator Byrd of Virginia has also protested against the Treasury's system of letting $6 to $8 billion of government money remain in private banks without drawing interest. In other words, the banks get free use of Uncle Sam's money, while the banks in turn charge interest to the government on money they loan Uncle Sam. The National City Bank and the Continental Illinois Trust, the two banks in which Burgess and Kennedy are not giving up their connections, are among those getting free use of government funds.

Dependence on the advice of big bankers is one problem Ike faces if he is to woo independent voters and get away from 1892.

Political-Go-Round

Even though Democrats won the Virginia race for governor, they are so sure at Senator Harry Byrd they would almost defeat him if he were running tomorrow. Reason: Byrd encouraged the Republicans one year ago. As a result, they built up a strong state machine, made the Democrats spend unprecedented time and money to win this week. Watch A. E. S. Stephens, who was re-elected Virginia's lieutenant governor. He's the coming political figure in Virginia. Senator Guy Gillette of Iowa, Democrat, who must depend on the farm vote, isn't worried about his re-election chances any more.

What Are The Facts?

No battle is ever won without knowledge, and the war against Russia and international communism has only too often been lost in various areas by astounding ignorance. In some of the recent closed sessions of congressional committees, high officials appeared who displayed a frightening lack of knowledge of the details of subjects which they handle as specialists. The excuse often is that he, the witness, has someone else for details. Then why is he a specialist?

So the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations has published a pamphlet, which is available for public consumption and which you can obtain by writing to Senator Alexander Wiley, Chairman, Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Washington, D. C.

This pamphlet will settle dozens of arguments, because it deals strictly with facts on two subjects:

"1. Statistics on the parliamentary status of Communist parties, their claimed or estimated membership, and a brief statement concerning their source of strength.

"2. A region-by-region analysis of the objectives and tactics of communism."

The committee counsel, Julius N. Cahn, who has had a vast experience in this field, is a quiet, studious researcher to whom a fact is a living thing. It is interesting to note how taut and lean this study is. Actually not a word of propaganda appears in it—only the established facts as they are without trimmings.

One remark in the introduction needs to be repeated: "In the first place, the Communists have time and again proven the extent to which even a small, highly disciplined group inside or outside a parliament (indeed, in virtually any organization) can succeed in a wrecking operation.

"Secondly, the Communists in many instances prefer to keep the Communist party as such, a small, tight 'elite' organization. They often prefer to leave to mass, non-Communist parties and organizations, the principal overt task of moving the society in the direction the Communists want it to go."

I was particularly interested in the data provided concerning Latin America, where, in recent years, the Communists have made considerable and, for us, distasteful progress, actually establishing themselves as a power in Guatemala. In 12 of the 20 Latin American countries, they have been suppressed as a party, although the evidence is that they are working underground. According to this study, they have no present prospect of gaining control of Latin American countries by the electoral process, although that does not preclude strikes, demonstrations, and a constant pull to the left by the infiltration of intellectual groups. It is always and in every country that the intellectuals fall for them.

It is possible that they have exaggerated their power in the Confederation of Latin American Workers, but it is true that this dominant labor organization is Communist-controlled by Vicente Lombardo Toledano. The union has established itself through holding key positions in strategic labor unions and federations. Therefore the broad base does not matter, as the fact is that whoever controls the organization can generally manipulate its members, just as in the United States. The Senate committee's report says: "... So long as Communist parties have cells in labor, student, intellectual, and nationalist groups, and Communist propaganda can play on their drives and discontents, as is now the case in many Latin American countries, Communist capabilities in the area are a factor with which to reckon."

Everywhere in Latin America these organizations and their allies conduct a constant propaganda against the United States, and in pursuance of their anti-Americanism, the Communists have joined with Fascist groups which are also anti-American. Therefore, our position in Latin America is menaced and actually we face the rising power of communism in Guatemala, Costa Rica, British Guiana and Venezuela.

Today the trend among congressional committees is to issue objective reports and texts to inform the people as to the facts in a situation. The Jenner Committee reports are among the best available on the subjects which they cover. One of those reports has already reached a sufficiently large segment of the population to lay a basis for thought and discussion. The pamphlet which I am presently discussing is of equal value and should have a wide circulation, particularly in schools, colleges and libraries where students seek the facts and often cannot find them. Factual, checkable material is worth more than propaganda, which is resented.

Cooler Cold War?

WASHINGTON

"The Russians will probably not start any new Korean—at least for the time being. But they will not settle the old Korean either." This about sums up the conclusions reached by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and other leading policy advisers of President Eisenhower, after a long, careful analysis of Soviet intentions.

These conclusions are, naturally, based in large part on the brilliant reports which Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen has been sending from Moscow. They are necessarily tentative, since it is foolish to the point of insanity to make categorical predictions about the Kremlin's future course. Even so, the belief that the new regime in the Kremlin is not going to start anything new in the immediate future, and is not going to settle anything old, is becoming a rather firm conviction in the highest official circles.

This belief reflects a certain measure of disillusionment. The illusion, it must be said, was never very strong. But it is at least true that Secretary Dulles and other policy makers did believe a few months ago that the Kremlin might actually welcome at least temporary and peripheral settlement of outstanding areas of conflict.

Dulles is known to have believed, for example, that there was at least an outside chance for an agreed settlement in Korea. Contrary to some reports, he never favored a "neutralized" Korea, if that word is taken to mean that South Korea should be totally disarmed. But he did think it conceivable that the Russians and the Chinese might agree to a unified Korea, on certain conditions.

Power Vacuum In Russia

These conditions might have been the withdrawal of all foreign forces, the demilitarization of a part of North Korea, and a Sino-Soviet-Japanese-American pact permanently barring aggression against Korea or the use of Korea as a military base.

Now the hope for an agreed settlement in Korea—which was certainly extremely faint from the start—has been killed by the line the Communists have taken since the truce. The equally faint hope that the new Kremlin regime might actually desire settlements in Europe—in Austria, for example—has also been killed, by the tone of the Soviet response to the Western notes on a four-power meeting.

In short, it is now believed that the Kremlin not only does not want to negotiate settlement—it does not even want to talk about negotiating settlements. On the other hand, it is also believed that the Kremlin does not want to run the risk of world war implicit in such actions as the original Korean aggression.

The Kremlin, it is believed, has a whole series of internal problems which must first be settled, before great risks can be taken. The question of the succession to Stalin has to be sure, apparently already been decided in favor of Malenkov. The expectation of an "upheaval in the Kremlin," following on Stalin's death, which once played so large a part in American policy, no longer does so. Yet, although the permanency of Malenkov seems to be established, a delicate, difficult, and dangerous process of filling the power vacuum left by Stalin's death and the purge of Beria is undoubtedly still going on in Moscow.

Continuing Cold War Expected

There are other internal problems which are certainly occupying the Kremlin's attention. Perhaps the most serious—although it receives little attention except from the small band of Soviet experts—is the ancient peasant problem. In Malenkov's speeches he devotes far more space to the failures of agricultural production than to foreign policy, and Malenkov's new peasant policy represents the most radical change in the old Stalinist line so far introduced.

The Malenkov regime must also rehabilitate the internal policy apparatus, disorganized by the Beria purge. And a new policy for the satellites, whose total unreliability was fully demonstrated in East Germany and elsewhere this summer, must be devised. While all this is going on, Dulles and the other Eisenhower advisers have come to believe, the Kremlin will simply try to maintain the status quo, keeping the West at arm's length, avoiding both any great new crisis and any genuine easing of world tensions.

To judge from his very brief, very brilliant speech in Parliament, British Prime Minister Sir Winston Churchill has been reaching rather similar conclusions. He has obviously lost confidence in the value of "personal contacts" with the Russian leaders, if only because the Russian leaders have evinced no desire whatever for such contacts. At the same time, Churchill, believes that "the probabilities of a world war have diminished, or at least become remote." Thus both in Washington and London the best forecast seems to be a continuing cold war, perhaps slightly cooler, but lasting, as Churchill movingly remarked, for "more time than some of us here are likely to see." It is not a pleasant prospect. But it could be—and of course may be—a great deal worse.

Philippine Election

American prestige is at stake in the conduct of the election tomorrow in the Philippines, often cited as the "show-case of democracy in the Pacific." American interests lie not so much in the outcome of the election as in the atmosphere in which it is carried out. The American ambassador to the island republic has maintained a strict "hands-off" course throughout the campaign.

An election marked by fraud or violence would be a severe black eye for America, viewed as the sponsor among nations of the Philippines. Worse, if the Liberal party now in power attempts to win unfairly, the result could be anything from the establishment of a near-dictatorship to a civil war, according to responsible newspaper correspondents.

Running for re-election is President Elpidio Quirino, 62, head of the Liberal party. A tough and skilled politician, Quirino is unwell, he is only recently back in the islands after two operations at Johns Hopkins Hospital. In his nevertheless energetic campaign he has pointed out that under his administration, "the national wealth has increased from 4 billion to 7.5 billion pesos," that the budget is sound and so is the balance of trade; that a shipyard, big irrigation and hydro-electric projects, and a steel mill are under way.

Recently the Quirino campaign has taken on an anti-U. S. tinge, though his accomplishments have admittedly been assisted by U. S. funds and technical advice. This attitude appears to be a reaction from initial charges of the opposition that Quirino is tied to American apron strings and has mismanaged American aid, and from later appeals that the U. S. insure orderly elections. In 1949 the presidential election was marred by widespread intimidation of voters, fraud, violence.

The opposition candidate is Ramon Magsaysay, 42, who until his resignation on February 28 was Quirino's secretary of Defense. Generally given credit for stifling the Communist-led Hukbalahap rebellion, Magsaysay is believed presently to be the most popular man in the Philippines. In 1951, when Quirino's Liberals lost all nine of the Senate seats contested, Magsaysay used the army to supervise the elections, which turned out to be relatively fair and peaceful.

Seven days after Magsaysay resigned, ostensibly over a dispute with Quirino on the fight against Communists, Quirino declared for re-election. And two days thereafter, Magsaysay became the candidate of the Nacionalista party.

Magsaysay has in his corner Brig. Gen. Carlos P. Romulo, former foreign minister, ambassador to the U. S., and permanent representative to the U. N., and his newly formed Democratic party. Romulo himself was a candidate briefly earlier this year, but dropped out to form a coalition with the Nacionalistas.

If Quirino should be re-elected, he could legally serve only two of the four years of his term. The Constitution limits presidents to eight consecutive years in office. Quirino as vice president moved up in 1947 when President Roxas died.

How To Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Overcoming Poor Circulation

The northerner who is afflicted with poor circulation or heart trouble looks to the sunny south when winter comes. Coldness adds to his difficulties because it constricts the blood vessels, whereas warmth opens the passageways to improve the flow. Those who can afford to make the trip are more comfortable and have less trouble walking.

Hardening of the arteries is the most common cause of poor circulation. The leg vessels are affected primarily and the earliest manifestations are coldness and pain in the feet. The distress is mistaken easily for arch trouble and many victims continue to buy new shoes and arch supports until they discover that poor circulation is responsible. As the condition progresses cramps develop in the calf of the right or left leg after walking a block or two. On stopping for a few moments pain subsides and the individual is able to proceed an equal distance before the distress returns (intermittent claudication). This occurrence is a sign that circulation is adequate except when demands for blood are increased by exercise. When untreated, it may progress so that pain is noted even when resting.

Many factors aggravate or hasten the progress of arteriosclerosis in the lower extremities. Cold reduces the blood flow. Hence, those remaining up north should avoid overexposure and wear warm clothes and heavier hose and gloves. Nicotine also constricts the vessels and therefore smoking is taboo. Trivial injuries such as occur when a brick falls on the foot or when a toe is stubbed may pave the way for gangrene. The same can be said of applying strong salves or ointments to eliminate ringworm. These products burn the skin and, when circulation is inadequate, healing is delayed and sometimes never takes place. Blisters and minor wounds also have an adverse effect. Extreme care in maneuvering the toenails and paring calluses and corns will prevent unnecessary cuts. Properly fitting shoes and hose ward off rubbing and blister formation. These precautions are necessary because the life of tissues in bloodless limbs is in a precarious position.

During this critical period, nature is doing her best to form new blood vessels that by-pass the obstruction. Anatomical studies on many extremities have shown, for example, that in 438 distinct arterial occlusions now debar passageways had developed in all but two. In some instances the internal diameters of the new leg vessels were as large as the old, proving that they are capable of replacing the old. The lesson to be learned is to use care during the period that nature is constructing these vessels.

Infections also upset the balance. This calls for good foot hygiene. A daily bath is in order; the feet should be dried thoroughly followed by application of a suitable cold cream to soften the skin. Handle the feet as prized possessions by giving them meticulous care.

TOMORROW: Simultaneous attacks of psoriasis and arthritis.

ATOMIC COCKTAIL.
Mrs. T. writes: My mother has been suffering from nausea ever since her doctor gave her an atomic cocktail a few weeks ago for a thyroid condition. Can you tell me why this has happened?
REPLY:

Nausea and vomiting do not occur unless these symptoms are of psychological origin. The amount of atomic material in these cocktails is infinitesimal and has little or no chemical effect upon the body. On the other hand, the user knows that the substance has been prepared in an atom smasher and may become excited or worried after the material is taken.

TRANSFUSIONS NEEDED.
L. W. writes: Are transfusions needed in severe stomach hemorrhages?
REPLY:

Yes, when hemorrhage is severe or the blood count has fallen to a dangerously low level. On the other hand, when hemorrhage occurs in a young individual and is not profuse, many physicians prefer to give nature a chance because there always is a possibility that transfusions will increase blood pressure and stimulate bleeding.

BRONCHITIS.
J. Z. writes: Can bronchitis result from sinus trouble?
REPLY:

Yes, long standing sinusitis is one of several causes of chronic bronchitis. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on bronchitis.

UNVACCINATED.
Mrs. L. writes: I'm 37 and have never been vaccinated against any disease. Is this unusual?
REPLY:

Yes, in this country but not in the more backward nations. You have profited by the fact that nearly everyone else has been vaccinated, which protects them from diseases which ordinarily would be passed on to you.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Eisenhower On Guard That History Will Not Repeat; Burgess Brings Chicago Bank Spokesman Into Treasury; Virginia Democrats Sore At Senator Byrd

WASHINGTON—Most significant part of President Eisenhower's statement after the New York-New Jersey election defeats was that the United States didn't want to go back to 1892.

Prior to that press conference, the President had done some reading of history. And obviously he was impressed with certain parallels between his own administration and that of another Republican president, Benjamin Harrison, who defeated Grover Cleveland in 1888 then was swept out of office just four years later by Grover Cleveland and Adlai Stevenson.

What happened during those four years of Republican rule makes highly interesting reading. No wonder Ike remembered it. Harrison became king of the spoilsmen, changed 31,000 out of 55,000 postmasters, was the darling of the industrialists, passed the McKinley High Tariff Act. Meanwhile farmers stormed at the big business policies of the new administration. Two years after taking office, his resentment against the Republicans was so great that the Democrats carried the House of Representatives by an overwhelming majority. Two years later—1892—the Republicans were thrown out of Washington completely.

That was the history Ike has been reading. That was why he told newsmen he thought the Republican party would have to recapture the independent, semi-Democratic voter.

Straddling Two Elephants

Close friends say that more than ever the President now realizes the division inside the Republican party; that he has the choice of siding with the extreme right wing, the isolationists, the high-tariffers, the low taxes and budget-balancers; or siding with the liberal, non-isolationist wing in favor of aid to Europe, high taxes, a certain amount of farm subsidies.

"The trouble with Ike," remarked one Republican friend, "is that he's been like the chorus girl who proposed to Dr. Einstein. 'With your brains and my beauty,' she said, 'think what children we could have.'"

"But," replied Einstein, "suppose they had my looks and your brains."

"Ike has been trying to please both wings of the Republican party," concluded his friend. "The result is he's pleased neither. His product has had Eisenhower's looks and the chorus girl's brains. Now he's got to choose one side or the other."

Bankers' Policies

The difficulty Ike will have in deserting the 1892 wing of the Republican party and winning back the independent, pro-Democratic voters is indicated by a recent conversation that took place in Chicago.

Randolph Burgess, the National City Bank official now in the Treasury to handle the public debt, was in Chicago to confer with the bankers regarding the amount of interest to be charged on the next issue of government bonds.

The Treasury under able Secretary George Humphrey has followed a different policy from Henry Morgenthau and John Snyder. They fixed their own interest rates, let the bankers yell if they didn't like it. The bankers had to come to Washington, no one went to them.

But Secretary Humphrey, head of the Mark Hanna Company, founded by the famous banker of William McKinley and the high-tariff policies built up in 1892, feels differently. He has set interest rates that have been a boon to bankers.

And while Burgess was in Chicago conferring over these interest rates, the bankers complained that they were not represented in the Treasury regarding debt management. The New York bankers were represented through Burgess and the National City Bank, they pointed out, but not Chicago. So Burgess promptly picked David M. Kennedy of the Continental Illinois Trust Co., and a few days later swore him in as an assistant to the secretary of the Treasury.

Kennedy's appointment will not be subject to confirmation by the Senate. Unlike Charles E. Wilson of General Motors, he is not selling his stock in Continental Trust, so is being appointed to a special advisory position. Yet, his influence will be tremendous on the economic life of the nation. He will be in the same category as Randolph Burgess, who is also in a special appointment category and who has not given up his pension with the National City Bank.

This is bound to cause sparks in the Senate next January. Senators Kerr of Oklahoma and Douglas of Illinois have already protested this procedure, pointing out that bankers have no right to be above the law, and that the big bankers who now control management of the public debt have increased interest rates for the benefit of the taxpayers.

Senator Byrd of Virginia has also protested against the Treasury's system of letting $6 to $8 billion of government money remain in private banks without drawing interest. In other words, the banks get free use of Uncle Sam's money, while the banks in turn charge interest to the government on money they loan Uncle Sam. The National City Bank and the Continental Illinois Trust, the two banks in which Burgess and Kennedy are not giving up their connections, are among those getting free use of government funds.

Dependence on the advice of big bankers is one problem Ike faces if he is to win independent voters and get away from 1892.

Political-Go-Round

Even though Democrats won the Virginia race for governor, they are so sure at Senator Harry Byrd they would almost defeat him if he were running tomorrow. Reason: Byrd encouraged the Republicans one year ago. As a result, they built up a strong state machine, made the Democrats spend unprecedented time and money to win this week. Watch A. E. S. Stephens, who was re-elected Virginia's lieutenant governor. He's the coming political figure in Virginia.

Senator Guy Gillette of Iowa, Democrat, who must depend on the farm vote, isn't worried about his re-election chances any more.

Stalling In Korea

It was the Communists' idea, this business of making prisoners who opposed repatriation listen to their persuasions over a 90-day period before being set free. The Reds refused to sign an armistice until this demand was granted. They also insisted on having the Operation Explanation supervised by a packed "neutral" commission two of whose five members were Communist nations.

They would never have insisted on these arrangements if they had not been confident of their ability to win over most of these reluctant prisoners. Accordingly, they have been given a chance to prove this. But only two per cent of the Chinese and four per cent of the North Koreans so far urged to change their minds have done so. The others have continued to show violent hostility to the Reds. Much face has been lost.

So the Reds are now frequently in revolt against their own proposal. The "neutral" Communist members on the supervisory commission stalled proceedings at one stage by a walkout. Communist persuaders refused for 12 days to talk to willing Chinese prisoners and insisted that Indian custodial troops use force to make unwilling North Koreans listen.

When India overcame the opposition of North Korean prisoners, the Reds suspended the talks on another pretext. Meanwhile another pretext is being built up in charges of an American-directed "reign of terror" inside the compounds. These shenanigans obviously are inspired by overwhelming resistance of prisoners to all Red coercion.

At Panmunjom, meanwhile, the Reds are finding pretexts not to settle the time and place of the political conference which should have been under way by this time. It seems as if their present policy is to stall until outraged President Rhee of South Korea starts the war again, as he has threatened to do.

Long, Cold Winter

With November well under way, the feminine side of the household has already gone on record with the trifutable word that now is the time to select a family Christmas card because in a few weeks the stocks will be depleted.

But that is only one of the signs and portents of the cold season. New York newspapers have already given out the results of the annual woolly bear survey, conducted among the small caterpillars which are found in the Hudson River Valley. These fuzzy crawlers have dark brown cumberbunds, and the width of the cumberbund determines the severity of the winter.

Disregarding the confusing statistics of the measuring process, the conclusion was that next winter will be more severe than last, but not as severe as what is termed a normal winter.

An Illinois man reports that the cost on a neighboring farmer's horse is beginning to assume thickness, and this means, he reports, that a cold winter is in the offing. But his wife adds that she saw this same horse trying to scratch his coat off on a tree last February, presumably having developed too heavy a pelt a year ago.

For what it's worth, one Washington correspondent reports that the exodus of squirrel, mink, chinchilla and the varying categories of fur from cold storage vaults is merely a precaution. If the winter's going to be cold, weatherwise, it's going to be hot in the capital socially.

Other prognostications are being issued daily, and what they all add up to is that the outlook is for a mild or severe winter, depending on how it turns out.

Bicycle Riding Danger Cited

State Police are asking parents to warn their children that bicycling after dark is strictly against the law — unless the bike is equipped with a strong white light on the front and a red light or reflector on the rear fender.

Col Elmer F. Munshower, superintendent of Maryland troopers, made the appeal after reviewing the death and injury records of bicycle riders in the state last year.

Statistics showed a total of seven killed and 302 hurt in accidents. The colonel added:

"Don't expose your young bicycle rider unnecessarily to the dangers of night-time traffic and if he must ride at night, make sure he is protected by adequate lighting equipment. Bike riders also must obey all 'Rules of the Road' and traffic signs."

Munshower reminded parents that days are getting shorter and that bicycle riders as well as motorists have obligations to obey all safety requirements.

Firemen To Get Paid For Working Holidays

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Nov. 8 (AP) — The 19 paid workers in Hagerstown's five volunteer fire departments are going to get between $800 and $900 for the holidays they worked in 1951.

The payments will go to those who worked on holidays and did not receive extra pay or extra time off.

The Mayor and Council approved the bonus today after firemen pointed out members of the police force several months ago were awarded back pay or time off for holidays they had worked since 1951. At that time the council issued a general order that those who worked on holidays were to get either extra pay or extra time off.

The firemen have been getting the same benefits since early in 1952.

Youth Kills Deer With Bow, Arrow

A 16-year-old Silver Spring archer Saturday became the first hunter to legally kill a deer in Allegany County since the open season with bow and arrow was started last year.

Mathias, with his father, Robert W. Mathias, Sr., and his brother, were in the area of Green Ridge State Forest near Shireliff Camp when they sighted the doe.

Theorig said the youth has killed two other deer in past seasons, both with a .30-30 calibre rifle that his father presented him on his 14th birthday.

A large number of archers were in Allegany County woods Saturday, Theorig reported. He added that one hunter, whose identity he did not learn, hit a deer with an arrow, but it fled and seemingly made its get-away.

Armistice Day has been selected for the rescheduled game between Beall High of Frothingham and the Moorefield Yellow Jackets. This game was postponed Saturday on account of inclement weather but has been reset for Wednesday at 1:45 o'clock in Moorefield.

Make Decision Today
The Franklin-Fort Hill game scheduled here last Saturday night was called off on account of inclement weather and this contest may be played this week at the stadium. The Pennsylvania school is to advise Fort Hill today whether it will be able to play.

After this week the only games left are those between Allegany and Fort Hill and LaSalle and Beall on Thanksgiving Day.

Romney celebrated Homecoming Day Saturday with a hard-fought triumph over Ray Kelly's Farmers of Farmington High. It was the ninth consecutive triumph for the undefeated and untied Pioneers, who qualified for the Class "B" title game for the second time in five years. In 1949 they captured the state championship.

Two touchdowns by Sammy Lyons and Roger Parker's conversion gave Romney a 13-6 advantage going into the final quarter when Gouzd registered a TD for the visitors. Dave Greene, however, blocked Antolock's kick for the point, thus preserving the win for Coach Richard "Dick" McElwee's eleven. Farmington had won seven consecutive games prior to Saturday's tilt and now owns a 7-2 record.

McElwee Given TV Set
Before the game got under way, Romney fans presented Coach McElwee with a television set in recognition of his ten years' service as mentor of Romney High School teams.

Score by periods:
Romney ..... 7 0 6 0-13
Farmington ..... 0 0 6 6-12

Five Score For State
Five players figured in Potomac State's scoring in Saturday's victory over West Virginia Wesleyan at Buckhannon.

Bob Barber and Rushak scored first seven contests.

Three Title Fights Head Week's Card

Gavilan, Bratton To Tangle Friday

NEW YORK, Nov. 8 (AP)—Three world championship bouts top the boxing program this week at such widely scattered points as Montreal, Chicago and Sydney, Australia.

Lightweight champ Jimmy Carter starts it off Wednesday at the Montreal Forum against Armand Savoie of Montreal in a 15-round defense, the first championship bout at Montreal since 1931. Carter is 5 to 1 over the No. 9 challenger in the ratings.

Clark Third Time
Kid Gavilan risks his welter title at the Chicago Stadium Friday against Johnny Bratton of Chicago, the No. 1 contender. It will be the third meeting of the two fighters with Gavilan winning one and the second ending in a draw.

The Gavilan-Bratton bout is the only one of the three championship fights to be seen on television (NBC) with the Chicago area blacked out. It also will be heard on radio (ABC) at 10 p. m. (EST).

Bantamweight champ Jimmy Carruthers of Australia makes his first defense before the home fans at Sydney Friday against Henry (Pappy) Gault of Spartanburg, S. C., former North American 118-pound ruler.

Sandy Faces Troy
Although the Carter-Savoie bout originally was scheduled for TV, technical difficulties changed the plans. The TV fans (CBS) will see middleweight rematch from Washington, D. C., between Randy Sandy of New York and Willie Troy of Washington. Sandy was stopped by Troy in their first meeting.

The Saturday night show (ABC-TV) opens up a new city to boxing when Albany, N. Y., gets back into action with Pat Manzi of Syracuse, N. Y., and Gerald Dryer of South Africa, the British empire welter champion, in a 10-rounder.

New York gets its first look at Edgardo Romero, a new Argentine heavyweight who is unbeaten in 25 fights, in a match with James J. Parker, Paterson, N. J. slugger, at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway Monday. The 10-round scrap is seen in some sections of the country on TV (Dumont).

Irish, Terps And Mountaineers Retain Unblemished Records

Baylor Bears Halted; Tsagalakis, Caroline, Latner, Branch Star

By BOB HOOBING

NEW YORK, Nov. 8 (AP)—Sam Tsagalakis, pint-sized kicking specialist from Southern California, and Phil Branch, strapping guard from Texas, literally have put a foot into bowl dreams at Stanford and Baylor.

It was 160-pound Tsagalakis' 38-yard field goal with just 14 seconds left in the game that handed Stanford its first Pacific Coast Conference loss in six contests 23-20. The Indians still lead Far West candidates for the Rose Bowl but the defeat kept idle UCLA, 4-1 in PCC play and ninth ranked in the nation, very much in the running.

Texas Halts Baylor
Branch, a 205-pounder, provided the margin of Texas' 21-20 victory over previously unbeaten Baylor by kicking three extra points which scrambled the Southwest Conference race for the title and an automatic Cotton Bowl bid.

Johnny Latner took the individual spotlight as Notre Dame, the nation's leading team which doesn't believe in post season play, staved off Penn's surprising Quakers for a 28-20 triumph.

Meanwhile Illinois' J. C. Caroline, Maryland's Chet Hanulak, Oklahoma's Larry Grigg and West Virginia's Tom Allman have nudged their teams to the brink of a New Year's Day invitation.

Caroline darted 184 yards through Michigan's defenses as Illinois, No. 4, handed the Wolverines a 19-3 setback with an eye turned toward Pasadena. Hanulak powered second place Maryland's 27-6 effort against George Washington and Grigg sparked eighth ranked Oklahoma's 14-7 triumph over Missouri as these two schools marched steadily toward an Orange Bowl meeting under the new Atlantic Coast-Big Seven Conference tieup.

Allman tallied both times as seventh rated West Virginia came from behind to defeat Virginia Tech 12-7 and enhance its chances for a post season engagement. It left the Mountaineers, Notre Dame and Maryland as the lone unbeaten and untied among major schools.

Spartans Whip Bucks
Georgia Tech, No. 6, continued to look like a sure bet for either the Sugar or Cotton Bowl in downing Clemson 20-7. Leroy Bolden got three touchdowns as fifth place Michigan State stayed within range of Illinois in the Big Ten with a 28-13 victory over Ohio State. Navy played Duke, No. 10, to a scoreless draw on the snow-soaked turf at Baltimore.

For the armchair football fans the NCAA television program of offered regional showings. Wisconsin's 34-13 defeat of Northwestern which put the Badgers in third place in the Big Ten and kept their title hopes alive, was watched by viewers in the Midwest and Northeast.

Kansas State's 7-0 victory over Kansas was shown in the Midlands and West. Florida's 21-7 margin over Georgia and South Carolina's 18-0 triumph over North Carolina were offered in different parts of the South. It was the first time since 1944 that both Kansas State and South Carolina had been able to defeat their arch-rivals.

Lattner Stands Out
Penn proved its rugged schedule had served as a toughener by giving Notre Dame its hardest fight of the campaign. Latner was the difference. His 92 yard kickoff return provided the tying touchdown after the Quakers jumped off to a fast lead. A 35 yard punt return and 56 yard kickoff return set up two more Irish touchdowns and his end zone pass interception halted Penn's last drive.

Ironically, it was a missed conversion attempt by Baylor's great tackle Jim Smith, whose kicking had beaten the Texas Aggies 14-13 two weeks before, that cost the Bears their unbeaten record. The two clubs are now tied for first place in the Southwest with identical 3-1 records.

Both Rice and Southern Methodist remained very much in contention with two victories in three league games as the Owls bombarded Arkansas 47-0 while the Mustangs stamped Texas A&M 23-0.

Beats Grange's Record
A crowd of 71,193 at Champaign-Urbana watched Illinois' Caroline pass Red Grange's sophomore total yardage record of 30 years ago and pull to within 36 yards of Alan Ameche's 774 Big Ten rushing mark set in '51. Amazing J.C. now has compiled 1,354 yards in all departments with two games to go. The Galloping Ghost had 1,260 in his equivalent sophomore year.

Undefeated Ohioans Rack Up Seventh Win In National League

CLEVELAND, Nov. 8 (INS)—Cleveland's undefeated Browns struck for 24 points in the second period and 10 more in the last quarter today to whip the Pittsburgh Steelers, 34 to 16, in a National Football League game here.

The Browns were held scoreless in the first quarter as the Steelers capitalized on two misplays to score nine points.

Pittsburgh recovered a fumble on the Browns' 34-yard line and shortly afterward Nick Bolikovic kicked a 27-yard field goal to put the Steelers ahead by three points.

Later in the period, following an interception of a Browns' pass, the Steelers launched an 80-yard march which Ray Mathews climax by going over for a touchdown from the two-yard mark.

Cleveland caught fire in the second period, rolling up three touchdowns on two long runs by Ray Renfro and a spot plunge by Ken Carpenter. Lou Groza then kicked the first of two field goals he registered during the game.

A 17-yard pass, Otto Graham to Dante Lavelli, gave the Browns their last touchdown in the final period.

Keyser, Romney; Potomac, Frosh Tangle Friday

Moorefield Hosts Beall Wednesday

Romney High School's Pioneers qualified for a shot at the West Virginia Class "B" title by defeating Farmington on Saturday by the score of 13-12 in Romney but must defeat or tie Keyser High School Friday afternoon to win or share the Potomac Valley Conference crown for the 1953 season.

The Romney-Keyser game at Romney is one of four games that are expected to be played in the tri-state area this week.

Freshmen Invade Keyser

On the same day Potomac State's Catamounts, victorious over West Virginia Wesleyan on Saturday by the score of 21-0, face Coach Quentin Barnett's West Virginia Wesleyan Freshmen at Stayman Field, Keyser, at 2 p. m. The Little Mountaineers dropped a 21-12 decision to the Pitt Freshmen Saturday night in Pittsburgh and will invade Keyser with a 2-2 record. They lost a 21-7 decision to the Virginia Tech Frosh after winning their first two games from Staunton Military Academy, 20-14, and Ohio U. Freshmen, 35-12. Friday's game will conclude the season for Coach Lough's Catamounts who have won three and lost five.

Armistice Day has been selected for the rescheduled game between Beall High of Frostburg and the Moorefield Yellow Jackets. This game was postponed Saturday on account of inclement weather but has been reset for Wednesday at 1:45 o'clock in Moorefield.

Make Decision Today

The Franklin-Fort Hill game scheduled here last Saturday night was called off on account of inclement weather and this contest may be played this week at the stadium. The Pennsylvania school is to advise Fort Hill today whether it will be able to play.

After this week the only games left are those between Allegheny and Fort Hill and LaSalle and Beall on Thanksgiving Day.

Romney celebrated Homecoming Day Saturday with a hard-fought triumph over Ray Kelly's Farmers of Farmington High. It was the ninth consecutive triumph for the undefeated and untied Pioneers, who qualified for the Class "B" title game for the second time in five years. In 1949 they captured the state championship.

Two touchdowns by Sammy Lyons and Roger Parker's conversion gave Romney a 13-6 advantage going into the final quarter when Gouzd registered a TD for the visitors. Dave Greene, however, blocked Antolock's kick for the point, thus preserving the win for Coach Richard "Dick" McElwee's eleven. Farmington had won seven consecutive games prior to Saturday's tilt and now owns a 7-2 record.

McElwee Given TV Set

Before the game got under way, Romney fans presented Coach McElwee with a television set in recognition of his ten years' service as mentor of Romney High School teams.

Beall and Bruce Windup Season

Bruce High School will host Beall High in the final game of the W.M.I. Soccer League season today at 3:30 o'clock in Westernport.

Coach Augie Eichhorn's booters can finish in the runner-up spot behind the Valley High champions by winning this game. A tie would enable the Westernport eleven to finish in a second place deadlock with Flintstone High's Aggies.

Henry Stafford will officiate.

Morea Cops Title

SANTIAGO, Chile, Nov. 8 (INS)—Enrique Morea of Argentina won the South American tennis championship today by defeating Jaroslav Drobny, Czech exile now living in Egypt, in four sets, 3-6, 6-3, 6-4, 6-3.

Morea entered the singles finals against Drobny by whipping Budge Patty of the United States.

TDs on passes, Donald Hobbs and Ross Mastreen registered on runs and Willis Collett took a handoff for the other six-pointer. The extra point was kicked by Mastreen.

It was the biggest scoring spree of the season for the Catamounts who had suffered shutout defeats in the two previous games and had tallied only 40 points in the first seven contests.

Three Title Fights Head Week's Card

Gavilan, Bratton To Tangle Friday

NEW YORK, Nov. 8 (AP)—Three world championship bouts took place this week at such widely scattered points as Montreal, Chicago and Sydney, Australia.

Lightweight champ Jimmy Carter starts it off Wednesday at the Montreal Forum against Armand Savoie of Montreal in a 15-round defense, the first championship bout at Montreal since 1931. Carter is 5 to 1 over the No. 9 challenger in the ratings.

Clash Third Time
Kid Gavilan risks his welter title at the Chicago Stadium Friday against Johnny Bratton of Chicago, the No. 1 contender. It will be the third meeting of the two fighters with Gavilan winning one and the second ending in a draw.

The Gavilan-Bratton bout is the only one of the three championship fights to be seen on television (NBC) with the Chicago area blacked out. It also will be heard on radio (ABC) at 10 p.m. (EST).

Bantamweight champ Jimmy Carruthers of Australia makes his first defense before the home fans at Sydney Friday against Henry (Pappy) Gault of Spartanburg, S. C., former North American 118-pound ruler.

Sandy Faces Troy
Although the Carter-Savoie bout originally was scheduled for TV, technical difficulties changed the plans. The TV fans (CBS) will see middleweight rematch from Washington, D. C., between Randy Sandy of New York and Willie Troy of Washington. Sandy was stopped by Troy in their first meeting.

The Saturday night show (ABC-TV) opens up a new city to boxing when Albany, N. Y., gets back into action with Pat Manzi of Syracuse, N. Y., and Gerald Dryer of South Africa, the British empire welter champion, in a 10-rounder.

New York gets its first look at Edgardo Romero, a new Argentine heavyweight who is unbeaten in 25 fights, in a match with James J. Parker, Paterson, N. J., slugger, at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway Monday. The 10-round scrap is seen in some sections of the country on TV (Dumont).

Irish, Terps And Mountaineers Retain Unblemished Records

Baylor Bears Halted; Tsagalakis, Caroline, Lattner, Branch Star

By BOB HOOBING

NEW YORK, Nov. 8 (AP)—Sam Tsagalakis, pint-sized kicking specialist from Southern California, and Phil Branch, strapping guard from Texas, literally have put a foot into bowl dreams at Stanford and Baylor.

It was 160-pound Tsagalakis' 38-yard field goal with just 14 seconds left in the game that handed Stanford its first Pacific Coast Conference loss in six contests 23-20. The Indians still lead Far West candidates for the Rose Bowl but the defeat kept it UCLA, 4-1 in PCC play and ninth ranked in the nation, very much in the running.

Texas Halts Baylor
Branch, a 205-pounder, provided the margin of Texas' 21-20 victory over previously unbeaten Baylor by kicking three extra points which scrambled the Southwest Conference race for the title and an automatic Cotton Bowl bid.

Johnny Lattner took the individual spotlight as Notre Dame, the nation's leading team which doesn't believe in post season play, staged off Penn's surprising Quakers for a 28-20 triumph.

Meanwhile Illinois' J. C. Caroline, Maryland's Chet Hanulak, Oklahoma's Larry Grigg and West Virginia's Tom Allman have nudged their teams to the brink of a New Year's Day invitation.

Caroline darted 184 yards through Michigan's defenses as Illinois, No. 4, handed the Wolverines a 19-3 setback with an eye turned toward Pasadena. Hanulak powered second place Maryland's 27-6 effort against George Washington and Grigg sparked eighth ranked Oklahoma's 14-7 triumph over Missouri as these two schools marched steadily toward an Orange Bowl meeting under the new Atlantic Coast-Big Seven Conference tieup.

Allman tallied both times as seventh rated West Virginia came from behind to defeat Virginia Tech 12-7 and enhance its chances for a post season engagement. It left the Mountaineers, Notre Dame and Maryland as the lone unbeaten and untied among major schools.

Spartans Whip Bucks
Georgia Tech, No. 6, continued to look like a sure bet for either the Sugar or Cotton Bowl in downing Clemson 20-7. Leroy Bolden got three touchdowns as fifth place Michigan State stayed within range of Illinois in the Big Ten with a 28-13 victory over Ohio State. Navy played Duke, No. 10, to a scoreless draw on the snow-soaked turf at Baltimore.

For the armchair football fans of the NCAA television program of offered regional showings, Wisconsin's 34-13 defeat of Northwestern which put the Badgers in third place in the Big Ten and kept their title hopes alive, was watched by viewers in the Midwest and Northeast.

Kansas State's 7-0 victory over Kansas was shown in the Midlands and West. Florida's 21-7 margin over Georgia and South Carolina's 18-0 triumph over North Carolina were offered in different parts of the South. It was the first time since 1944 that both Kansas State and South Carolina had been able to defeat their arch-rivals.

Lattner Stands Out
Penn proved its rugged schedule had served as a toughener by giving Notre Dame its hardest fight of the campaign. Lattner was the difference. His 92 yard kickoff return provided the tying touchdown after the Quakers jumped off to a fast lead. A 35 yard punt return and 36 yard kickoff return set up two more Irish touchdowns and his end zone pass interception halted Penn's last drive.

Ironically, it was a missed conversion attempt by Baylor's great tackle Jim Smith, whose kicking had beaten the Texas Aggies 14-13 two weeks before, that cost the Bears their unbeaten record. The two clubs are now tied for first place in the Southwest with identical 3-1 records.

Both Rice and Southern Methodist remained very much in contention with two victories in three league games as the Owls bombarded Arkansas 47-0 while the Mustangs stomped Texas A&M 23-0.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Dorothy Manners

(Substituting for vacationing Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 8 (INS) — With the Rams-49er game behind him, Elroy "Crazylegs" Hirsch puts football out of his mind for a week while he makes like a movie star.

His picture, "Crazylegs," opens in Los Angeles Tuesday and he'll take an "in person" bow at the theatre catching any "passes" the critics and fans toss at his acting. Scuttlebutt is that Elroy is a pretty good "natural" actor.

Hirsch then catches a plane for Wausau, Wisconsin, for a big hometown premiere scheduled Thursday.

With a day out to rest, he goes to Chicago Saturday to catch up with his teammates for the Rams-Bears game Sunday.

"And for the rest of the season," Elroy swears, "I'm off the movie pages and back in sports where I belong."

There's more to Magda Gabor's trip to the coast than the sisterly job of holding Zsa Zsa Gabor's head while she gets rid of George Sanders—or vice versa.

Magda talked with Agent Paul Small over the weekend about a movie job—possibly, in Barbara Stanwyck's "Witness to Murder."

As the older and less hectic sister of the Gabor clan, Magda has had less publicity. But she turned in a first rate performance recently teamed with Zsa Zsa on Martha Raye's TV show.

The real reason Robert Mitchum is out of "Susan Slept Here" is that he wants "out" of his RKO contract and is refusing to do any picture right now.

Seems to me Bob is a very foolish guy to give up a chance to do a charming comedy in color with music, which might give his career a whole new turn for his run of rugged dramas.

As for me, I was surprised that he was ever considered for the role of a composer. I would never have thought of him in the part so perhaps it's all for the best if he's made up his mind to cut off his nose to spite RKO.

Isn't Gloria Grahame set to inherit the Olivia De Havilland role in "The Human Beast," which is rapidly turning into a little beast of a movie to cast at Columbia?

First, ex-princess Rita abandoned it in favor of becoming Mrs. Dick Haymes. Olivia didn't get one of the four male stars she insisted on, so she walked.

I hear there's also been added shuffling around among the male players, with Broderick Crawford "out" and Glenn Ford "in."

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: the tables are turned and it's now Marlon Brando wanting to marry Movita and the lady saying "no hurry."

Although reports from Charles Skouras' bedside in Chicago are encouraging, the engagement party scheduled for young Skouras, Jr., and his fiancée, Mary Mellos, tonight was cancelled out.

Jane Powell sold her Westwood home and has moved into an apartment in Pacific Palisades. Several apartment buildings she owned with Geary Steffen in the Valley went to him in the community property settlement.

Steffen, however, is getting very high on everybody's good-guy list for his devoted escorting of Boni Buehler, the girl crippled in the motorboat crash.

Carol Lee Ladd takes time off from her UCLA studies to spend Christmas with her mother and Alan Ladd in England.

Louis Hayward still bedded with a virus infection that has gone into a kidney infection.

Raoul Walsh turns guest professor at USC Thursday night for the annual Department of Cinema

Good manners spring from a consideration of others, but it is conceivable that two people could carry such consideration too far. Each would be spending all effort and time trying to anticipate the desires and pleasure of the other. That is one reason why we have rules of etiquette. It gives us a code by which to operate. It is a code that experience has proved most acceptable to all.

The hostess and house guest relationship is, perhaps, one that allows the greatest latitude. Yet, it also imposes some real restraints.

Motion Picture Lectures sponsored by the screen directors guild.

Mrs. Freddie Martin (wife of the ork leader) is recuperating from major surgery performed Friday at Good Samaritan Hospital.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Limiting Visits

For instance, a hostess should invite a house guest for a stipulated period. "Can you come on Saturday and stay till Monday?" is an invitation that tells the guest how long she is most welcome—and it precludes the possibility of remaining longer.

An invitation, whether by note or telephone, should give the guest some idea of what the entertainment may include. "Bring your golf clubs, swim suit, riding clothes," or "We're planning on going to the dance at the club Saturday night" are ways in which a hostess can aid the guest and expedite the pleasure of all.

However, if you know the pattern of life in the home to which you are invited yet fail to take the necessary clothes and equipment, you are guilty of being a very inconsiderate guest. You should not expect your hostess to provide personal things.

Required Of Guest

While a hostess naturally keeps the pleasure of her guests in mind, the latter must abide by the routines and habits, the hours at which meals are served, the entertainment offered and the retiring hour of the hostess. Furthermore, it is imperative that the guest give the impression that all is exactly as desired. You need never accept a return engagement, but during your presence in another's home, you must appear to enjoy it. And that goes for everything that occurs in the natural course of events as lived in your hostess' home. Furthermore, it is up to you to summon your utmost powers to enter into the spirit of all the customs of the home to which you are invited.

On the other hand, any hostess who knowingly serves a dish which a guest cannot have is unforgivably inconsiderate. Many hostesses who entertain frequently keep a notebook listing the preferences and the allergies or food idiosyncracies of their acquaintances. In this way, the pleasure of guests is multiplied and discomforts are minimized.

The New Ratings

The latest television rating list from the American Research Bureau is one of the strongest arguments I can think of for diversification. Among the top 10 shows there are no two shows that remotely resemble one another. The top 10 in order are: "Dragnet," "I Love Lucy," "The Dick Van Dyke Show," "The Andy Griffith Show," "The Beverly Hills Cop," "The Love Boat," "The Mary Tyler Moore Show," "The Addams Family," "The Brady Bunch," and "The Munsters." "I Love Lucy" is the first time since April 1952; "The Dick Van Dyke Show" is the first time since April 1952; "The Andy Griffith Show" is the first time since April 1952; "The Beverly Hills Cop" is the first time since April 1952; "The Love Boat" is the first time since April 1952; "The Mary Tyler Moore Show" is the first time since April 1952; "The Addams Family" is the first time since April 1952; "The Brady Bunch" is the first time since April 1952; and "The Munsters" is the first time since April 1952.

John Crosby

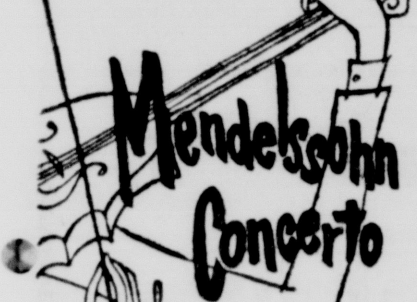

Let's examine that list a moment. There are, it's true, three comedians on it—Gleason, Berle and Duran. But all three are entirely different personalities and each has a format which in no way resembles that of others. Of the dozen or so expensive domestic situation comedies on the air, only one, "I Love Lucy," makes the top 10. And of all the million or so quiz shows, only one, Groucho Marx, whose chief charm has nothing to do with the quiz angle, gets in there.

Among the dramatic shows, there is one half-hour filmed show, Ford, and one hour-long live show, "Television Playhouse," both completely different. Godfrey makes the list twice but the shows are dissimilar (and besides Godfrey is Godfrey, defying explanation). "Dragnet" and "Treasure Men" are both in the profession of tracking down malefactors, but the resemblance ends right there. Most of these shows are tops in their lines. But the lesson to the advertiser, it seems to me, is that

Barclay On Bridge

GET YOUR TRICKS FAST
IT IS ordinarily good defensive procedure to lead trumps if you see a few of them in the dummy together with a blank or singleton in a side suit, where they may be used for ruffing out the declarer's losers. That is extremely unwise, however, if the dummy also contains a long and powerful side suit, on which declarer's losers may be discarded. Then he usually hopes to get trumps cleared and run that suit. When this condition prevails, it generally behooves you to get your own trick or tricks in side suits as fast as you can.

shifted suits. One of them, noting the dummy's ability to ruff spades, decided to limit the ruffing by returning a trump. The heart 3 was won by the A, the suit was cleared by a lead to the J and then the declarer ran clubs, discarding on them two diamonds and two spades, thus producing an unbid small slam without even using the spade K.
At the other table, East noted the danger of discards on the clubs. Fearing that otherwise he might never get a trick with his diamond A, he took his side's second trick with it. The declarer of course got the rest of the tricks, but the keenness of East resulted in his team winning the deal by a margin of 30 points. East said later that, if the diamond honor in the dummy had been the Q instead of the K, he would have scored the A first anyway before leading a second diamond in the hope that West had the K. If the contract had been only 4-Hearts, he said he would have led the diamond 6, striving for three tricks in the suit. That would be sound at rubbers too.

A double of the 4-Spades sacrifice effort could have produced a four-trick set to give North-South 700 points. At each table of a team match, however, though the early bidding varied slightly, the obvious sacrificing moves caused the vulnerable pair to think it couldn't do very well on the defense, but that it could score eleven tricks at hearts.

Each table brought the same opening lead, the spade 2, and in each case East put up his A upon seeing the dummy's singleton. Also each East of course then

Would you like to own an 8 cylinder car that will average better than 20 miles to the gallon? This one-owner Commander sedan with light grey finish does just that and it was driven only 17,000 miles. You will not have to add any oil because chrome racing rings were put in at 10,000 miles and does not use a drop. The tires have deep grooved treads and the interior is clean. The equipment includes overdrive, radio, heater, defroster, side mirror and back-up lights. A fast and economical car that you will not have a repair bill on for months and the price only...

1949 Chrysler N. Y. 4-Dr. Sdn.
This one owner was a Celanese executive and only driven 13,000 miles per year. The owner kept this car in condition with regular check-ups. It was garaged every night. The gleaming light grey finish is contrasted by shiny chrome and you have all the safe driving devices as signal lights, back-up lights, 4 speed fluidmatic transmission with step down gear for passing on hills. A powerful 8 cylinder engine is in A-1 condition. The rest of the equipment includes heater, defroster, 8 tube radio, air foam seats, arm rests, plastic seat covers and the tires are new. Priced at only...

Rams Lose, 31-27, To Forty Niners

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 8 (INS)—The San Francisco 49ers dumped the Los Angeles Rams out of sole possession of first place today when Y. A. Tittle passed a last-minute touchdown and threw the Western Conference of the National Football League into a three-way tie for the lead. The score was 31-27.

The San Francisco victory moved the 49ers into the tie with the Rams and Detroit Lions, each having records of five victories and two defeats. A crowd of 85,865 saw the battle.

With less than one minute left in the game, and the Rams holding a 27 to 24 lead, Tittle tossed a 21-yard pass to Gordy Soltau, a 31-yard heave to Hugh McElhenny and an aerial to Soltau for 17 yards and the game-winning touchdown.

The defeat was the second of the season for the Rams, both administered by the 49ers.

50,000 Whistles Ordered For State Civil Defense Use

State Civil Defense officials announced they have ordered 50,000 whistles which will be used by wardens, civil defense officers and auxiliary policemen in the event of an emergency.

The metal and plastic whistles are surplus material, and the sole cost to the state will be freight charges.

As soon as the shipment arrives, 20,000 will be delivered to the Baltimore City Civil Defense organization and the remainder will be distributed to Maryland's counties.

State Civil Defense Director Shirley Ewing said, "It looks like we'll have a lot of whistles with too few volunteers to blow them."

Civil Defense officials have long wanted volunteers to serve as auxiliary police and Civil Defense officers.

Ewing pointed out that anyone can volunteer for these services by contacting their local Civil Defense director.

City Firemen Check 5 Calls Over Weekend

City firemen were active over the weekend as five calls were answered.

Yesterday Central firemen checked two alarms. They received the first call at 11:48 a. m. when an over-heated electric water cooler caught fire on the second floor of the Liberty Trust Building.

The second floor, firemen said, was filled with smoke. The door of an adjoining office, occupied by Edward J. Ryan, local attorney, was damaged as entrance was made by the firemen.

South End firemen quenched a grass fire yesterday at 3:32 p. m. between Second and Fourth Streets. No damage was reported in the blaze.

At 3:35 p. m. yesterday Central firemen extinguished a blaze at the Sunshine Feed Store, 214 South George Street. A stairway on the side of the building was damaged.

Saturday night at 8:29 o'clock South End checked a flue fire at 219 Humbert Street when a soot accumulation caught fire. No damage was reported.

Central firemen checked an auto fire at 2:49 p. m. Saturday in the rear of the Kenneweg Company warehouse. The blaze originated under the hood of a car belonging to Raphael A. Firle, 13 North Allegany Street, and was out on arrival.

Garrett Countian Released On Bond

Cecil Savage, 32, of the White Rock section of Garrett County, near Friendsville, was released from Allegany County Jail under $1,000 bond pending grand jury action on a fraud charge.

Savage is accused of defrauding a local insurance agent by making a false report that six large tires were stolen from his truck. The Garrett County man purchased the truck in August from a Grantsville dealer. In September he reported to State Police that the tires had been stolen from his truck. Cpl. William F. Baker, who investigated the case, reported that Savage later admitted that he removed the tires himself in order to collect the insurance money.

Highways Clear As Snow Melts In Tri-State

Bureau Explains Surprise Storm

Most of the unpredicted snow that fell in the Tri-State area last week was gone yesterday, and state police said all highways were dry.

A check with police at LaVale, Bedford, Pa. and Romney, W. Va. showed all major highways clear with the exception of secondary roads in Garrett County. A few snow flurries were reported in the western section of the district, but at the same time, temperatures were higher.

Temperatures Climb

At 8 p. m., mercury ranged from 44 in the Romney section to 34 degrees in Deal, Pa. Other sections reported:

Hardman, 40; Blazer, Terra Alta and Altamont, 38; Elkins, 34 and Rockwood, 42. All reported clear skies. In Cumberland, at 8 p. m., thermometers stood at 45. Reading ranged from a high of 54 to a low of 34 here yesterday.

The Weather Bureau predicts rather cloudy and cool today with some chance of rain.

The Bureau at Baltimore admitted that it, as well as the state's residents, was fooled by the sudden snowstorm which struck Maryland Friday.

In a special bulletin issued yesterday, here's the way the bureau explained it:

"The events which led up to this unusual storm occurred in rather rapid succession.

"On Thursday a minor storm developed over the Florida region along the southeastern edge of an extensive mass of cold air which covered practically all the eastern half of the nation.

"Indications at that time were that the storm system should move northeastward, producing sleet and rain as far north as Virginia, with the cloudiness extending into Maryland.

"On Friday morning, the storm began to take a more northerly course and by Friday afternoon it was moving almost northward, and by evening it was just skirting the coastal areas of North Carolina and Virginia.

Changes Course

"The contrast of warm air from the ocean area and the extensive mass of cold air provided all the energy necessary to cause the development to become a typical northeaster and blizzard, which put down more snow than has ever been recorded this early in November."

The bureau early Friday reported sleet might hit Virginia and the Eastern Shore of Maryland, but it didn't foresee the general snowfall that was to cover the entire state until 9:15 a. m. Then it thought it would range from only one to three inches.

The storm lasted 20 hours, left 1-3 inches in extreme Southern Maryland, 9-11 inches in Central Maryland and up to 16 inches at Foxville, in the mountains between Frederick and Hagerstown.

Maryland State Police stationed at the Benson barracks near Bel Air reported "most secondary roads are passable but some are still blocked with drifts."

The Eastern barracks said that in its area "some secondary roads have one way traffic where drifts prevail and are icy in spots. Some main roads are wet where snow has been pushed off today. Could become icy if freezing sets in tonight."

The Conowingo barracks, in northeast Maryland, said its "main roads are open. Secondary roads are passable." State Police at Frederick reported "secondary roads icy in spots."

All other barracks reported roads open and most listed the highways as dry.

Dr. Bess will also preside at a club assembly tomorrow at 6:30 p. m. at Ali Ghan Country Club. Officers and committeemen will give reports.

The Weather

Old Sol appeared briefly yesterday, and temperatures climbed into the 50's for the first time since the snow storm Friday. The Weather Bureau forecasts rather cloudy and cool today with some chance of rain. High yesterday was 54 according to Constitution Park weather station; low was 34, and at 8 p. m. mercury stood at 45 degrees. Humidity at 6 p. m. was a dry 32.5 per cent.

New Church Foundation

Workmen are well under way toward completion of the foundation of the new Church of God building at Seymour and Fifth Streets in South Cumberland. The church will measure 31 by 75 feet and is expected to cost the Church of God congregation approximately $70,000. Much of the labor is being donated by members of the congregation. Workers shown are George Shuck, Rev. Linnie D. Hudson and John Bunner. The group hopes to begin holding services in the basement of the building by November 20.

College Class Will Take Tour Of County Area

Conservation Steps Will Be Stressed

About 25 Frostburg State Teachers College students, enrolled in a conservation class taught by Alfred Taylor, will be taken on an all-day tour of Allegany County Thursday so that various conservation measures can be demonstrated to them.

Accompanying the class will be Kenneth M. Stone, conservationist, and Martin M. Gordon, conservationist, both with the U. S. Soil Conservation Service here; Dale Arner, wildlife technician of the State Game and Inland Fish Commission, and Harry M. Hartman, assistant district forester with the State Department of Forests and Parks.

The students will tour the eastern part of the county, traveling to Murley's Branch, Flintstone, lunching on Green Ridge Mountain, visiting Green Ridge State Forest and the Billmyer Game Refuge.

On the tour the college students will be shown examples of strip cropping, contour farming, crop rotation, diversion terracing, farm ponds, timber management, forestry management and care of wildlife.

Taylor suggested the tour because he thought it would be helpful in the future for the young men and women who soon will be teachers.

Delk Will Speak At CPA Meeting

Today's Sermonette

Upon this rock I will build my church; and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it. Matthew 16:18.

Today's sermonette is a digest of the sermon preached yesterday at First Congregational Church, Frostburg, by the pastor, Rev. J. F. Zimmerman. The sermon digests are being prepared through the cooperation of the Cumberland Ministerial Association.

What Is The Church?

By REV. J. F. ZIMMERMAN

What is the Church? My friends, there are almost as many definitions of the Church today as there are men, for everybody claims the right to define the Church. So, we have the theologian defining it in terms of doctrine; the moralist in terms of ethics; the churchman in terms of ritual, etc. Now there is truth in each of these definitions, but no one of them, nor all combined, gives us a true definition of the Church. We will find the answer in the New Testament.

The definition according to the apostle Paul: "The Church is the body of Christ," not merely a body of doctrine, or a body of ritual, or of government. The Church is not a human institution. It is divine in its foundations, in its purpose, and divine in its power.

The Church belongs to Christ, not man or any class of men. He purchased it with His own blood. Men forget this fact in these days, and frequently speak of the Church as if they owned it and could do as they pleased with it.

The Church is not a body of either priests, preachers, employers or employees, capitalists or laborers. It is the Body of Christ! When Christ was on earth He spent His whole time in building a Church. He paid no attention to matters of government or education. He conducted no revival meetings and wrote no books.

In building His Church, Christ gathered about Him a few persons whose minds He thoroughly indoctrinated with His ideas. After that He gave himself up to die, leaving the job to us.

In our search for the founder of the Church let us study this morning at greater length the complete verse from which I have just quoted. Peter had just said to Jesus, "Thou art the Christ, the Son of the Living God." To that statement Jesus made answer, "Upon this rock I will build my Church." This corresponds with the words of Isaiah, who said in the 28th chapter and 16th verse, "Behold, I lay in Zion, for a foundation a stone, a sure foundation." And are built upon the foundation of the apostles and the prophets, Jesus Himself being the chief corner stone. From these words we learn that the Church is founded upon Christ.

The Church in principle is a communion, a fellowship of persons who share a vision of God in Christ. This is the only real fundamental fact about it; others are important, but to be sure, but important relative to it. They must never set themselves before it, or impede it in any way.

The standard of the Church is the best known; the Church stands for the world. The Church creates and maintains the most wholesome influence in the world.

Remember our future depends upon the Church; if the Church should pass out of existence as some writers predict, civilization will not survive the 20th Century.

When we appreciate the relation to the social order, then it will be back to the Church and God. "Awake, awake; put on thy strength, O Zion." Let us get back to Church! and God. Come let us worship Him by being loyal to the Church. My friends, the church will point you to Him who doeth all things well. Awake, put on thy strength, and become active in the service of God. Do it with the same enthusiasm that you have for the lodges to which you belong. How much more important it is that we be loyal to the Church. There is so much more to be gained! I know that this back-to-Church movement is not popular with some people.

Someone has said that ministers should preach Christ and point men and women to God. Now that would be all right if we believed that God pointed to the Church, but such is not the case; the Church points to God, then through the Church men and women will find God.

"Awake, awake! and let us unite our spiritual forces, Roman Catholic, Jew and Gentile, that we might change our social order. The Church is valuable to the social order, because of the light which it can throw upon moral conditions. The Church is of value to society because of its saving and wholesome effect upon it.

One Kindergarten No Longer Operates

Five Catholic high schools and three kindergartens in Allegany County are included on the list of Maryland non-public academic schools which have been approved by State Superintendent of Schools Thomas G. Pullen, Jr.

The list covers the year ending June 30, 1953.

The only Cumberland kindergarten listed was Condon Kindergarten, which Mrs. Katherine P. Condon directed at 601 North Centre Street for a number of years.

However, Mrs. Condon closed her institution and moved to Florida with her husband in late August.

Two kindergartens outside Cumberland are on the approved list. One is the Hill Street School Kindergarten with Mrs. Emily Stewart as director and teacher at Hill Street Elementary School in Frostburg. The other is the Tri-Towns Kindergarten, Mrs. Roy M. Walker, president, Grant Street, Lake.

The five Catholic institutions from Allegany County which have received Dr. Pullen's approval include Catholic Girls Central High School, North Centre Street; LaSalle High School, North Centre Street; St. Mary's High School, Oldtown Road; St. Peter's High School, Westernport, and Ursula Academy, Smallwood Street.

Throughout the state there are 183 approved non-public institutions located in 18 counties and Baltimore City.

The Defense Manpower Policy 4, the release noted, was revised to give firms located in surplus labor areas special assistance in obtaining government contracts and the ODM's tax amortization procedure was modified to give additional tax amortization assistance to firms which establish or expand defense plants in areas of chronic labor surplus.

Hargreaves pointed out that the action will be further incentive for such industries to locate here and he is continuing to contact defense plants telling them of the new advantages.

Local Initiative Cited

Cumberland was mentioned as one of such areas earlier this week. In announcing the two new actions ODM officials noted that area development depends primarily on the initiative of local communities since both government procurement and defense expansions are declining.

The release went on to point out that procurement assistance under Revised Policy 4 will assist local initiative in those areas which have adequate manufacturing facilities. The new tax amortization procedure is designed to assist communities efforts in chronic labor surplus areas — such as coal and textile communities — which are highly dependent on a single industry or have been affected by technological change.

The revised policy directs federal procurement agencies to make "set asides" in appropriate cases. Under this method of procurement part of the total purchase is formally advertised and a contract awarded to lowest qualified bidder. The remainder of the total procurement may be set aside for negotiation with firms in labor surplus areas.

Buying Procedure Noted

To be awarded a contract, firms in these areas must meet the prices established through the competitive formal buying procedure. Also to give full opportunity to firms in labor surplus areas whose names are on bidder lists, to submit bids or proposals on all procurements for which they are qualified.

To award a contract in the event of tie bids or offers on any procurement to a firm located in a labor surplus area, was also noted. Finally to encourage prime contractors to award subcontracts to firms in these areas.

Under this policy order the Small Business Administration and Department of Commerce will assist firms in these areas in obtaining information on federal procurement needs and procedures so as to insure opportunity for their maximum participation in government procurement.

Commerce and Labor Departments are also directed to give technical help to areas attempting to attract new industries.

50,000 Whistles Ordered For State Civil Defense Use

State Civil Defense officials announced they have ordered 50,000 whistles which will be used by wardens, civil defense officers and auxiliary policemen in the event of an emergency.

The metal and plastic whistles are surplus material, and the sole cost to the state will be freight charges.

As soon as the shipment arrives, 20,000 will be delivered to the Baltimore City Civil Defense organization and the remainder will be distributed to Maryland's counties.

State Civil Defense Director Shirley Ewing said, "It looks like we'll have a lot of whistles with too few volunteers to blow them."

Civil Defense officials have long wanted volunteers to serve as auxiliary police and Civil Defense officers.

Ewing pointed out that anyone can volunteer for these services by contacting their local Civil Defense director.

Highways Clear As Snow Melts In Tri-State

Bureau Explains Surprise Storm

Most of the unpredicted snow that fell in the Tri-State area last week was gone yesterday, and state police said all highways were dry.

A check with police at LaVale, Bedford, Pa. and Romney, W. Va. showed all major highways clear with the exception of secondary roads in Garrett County. A few snow flurries were reported in the western section of the district, but at the same time, temperatures were higher.

Temperatures Climb
At 8 p. m., mercury ranged from 44 in the Romney section to 34 degrees in Deal, Pa. Other sections reported:

Hardman, 40; Blazer, Terra Alta and Altamont, 38; Elkins, 34 and Rockwood, 42. All reported clear skies. In Cumberland, at 8 p. m., thermometers stood at 45. Reading ranged from a high of 54 to a low of 34 here yesterday.

The Weather Bureau predicts rather cloudy and cool today with some chance of rain.

The Bureau at Baltimore admitted that it, as well as the state's residents, was fooled by the sudden snowstorm which struck Maryland Friday.

In a special bulletin issued yesterday, here's the way the bureau explained it:

"The events which led up to this unusual storm occurred in rather rapid succession.

"On Thursday a minor storm developed over the Florida region along the southeastern edge of an extensive mass of cold air which covered practically all the eastern half of the nation.

"Indications at that time were that the storm system should move northeastward, producing sleet and rain as far north as Virginia, with the cloudiness extending into Maryland.

"On Friday morning, the storm began to take a more northerly course and by Friday afternoon it was moving almost northward, and by evening it was just skirting the coastal areas of North Carolina and Virginia.

Changes Course
"The contrast of warm air from the ocean area and the extensive mass of cold air provided all the energy necessary to cause the development to become a typical northeaster and blizzard, which put down more snow than has ever been recorded this early in November."

The bureau early Friday reported sleet might hit Virginia and the Eastern Shore of Maryland, but it didn't foresee the general snowfall that was to cover the entire state until 9:15 a. m. Then it thought it would range from only one to three inches.

The storm lasted 20 hours, left 1-3 inches in extreme Southern Maryland, 9-11 inches in Central Maryland and up to 16 inches at Foxville, in the mountains between Frederick and Hagerstown.

Maryland State Police stationed at the Benson barracks near Bel Air reported "most secondary roads are passable but some are still blocked with drifts."

The Eastern barracks said that in its area "some secondary roads have one way traffic where drifts prevail and are icy in spots. Some main roads are wet where snow has been pushed off today. Could become icy if freezing sets in tonight."

The Conowingo barracks, in northeast Maryland, said its "main roads are open. Secondary roads are passable." State Police at Frederick reported "secondary roads icy in spots."

All other barracks reported roads open and most listed the highways as dry.

Supported by the Legislative Council, and enacted by the State Legislature, the law was passed in direct response to a state-wide recognition of the need for it. "This need," Tawes then stated, "was based on the necessity for fostering respect for law curbing crime, plugging heavy losses in tax revenue to the state, and channeling legitimate business to its citizens."

"Under the law this special Maryland Alcohol Tax Enforcement Unit is within the Alcoholic Beverages Division of the Comptroller of the Treasury," Tawes explained, and concluded by stating that the additional personnel needed by Lucke, and as provided by law to carry out the enforcement job, is now being recruited through the Maryland State Commissioner of Personnel.

Car Smashes Into Bedford St. Porch
Although no one was injured in a two-car collision at Bedford and Decatur Streets early yesterday, one of the vehicles continued on after the crash knocking down a porch pillar and smashing lattice work on the house at 300 Bedford Street.

Police said that the car which damaged the porch was being driven west on Decatur Street by John Gerald Workman, 170 Maple Street, Frostburg. They reported that he failed to observe the stop sign at the intersection. This vehicle was struck on the left side by a car headed north on Bedford Street driven by Jack Lee Robinette, 523 Welch Avenue.

Robinette's car was virtually ruined while damage to the other vehicle was estimated at $300. Police Officers John F. Daum and E. P. Wilson investigated. Both drivers were charged with reckless driving and a hearing has been set for Thursday. The accident occurred about 3:40 a. m. Sunday.

The Weather Bureau forecasts rather cloudy and cool today with some chance of rain. High yesterday was 54 according to Constitution Park weather station; low was 34, and at 8 p. m. mercury stood at 45 degrees. Humidity at 6 p. m. was a dry 32.5 per cent.

Upon this rock I will build my church; and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it. Matthew 16:18.

What Is The Church?

By REV. J. F. ZIMMERMAN

What is the Church? My friends, there are almost as many definitions of the Church today as there are men, for everybody claims the right to define the Church. So, we have the theologian defining it in terms of doctrine; the moralist in terms of ethics; the churchman in terms of ritual, etc. Now there is truth in each of these definitions, but no one of them, nor all combined, gives us a true definition of the Church. We will find the answer in the New Testament.

The definition according to the apostle Paul: "The Church is the body of Christ," not merely a body of doctrine, or a body of ritual, or of government. The Church is not a human institution. It is divine in its foundations, in its purpose, and divine in its power.

The Church belongs to Christ, not man or any class of men. He purchased it with His own blood. Men forget this fact in these days, and frequently speak of the Church as if they owned it and could do as they pleased with it.

The Church is not a body of either priests, preachers, employers or employees, capitalists or laborers. It is the Body of Christ!

When Christ was on earth he spent His whole time in building a Church. He paid no attention to matters of government or education. He conducted no revival meetings and wrote no books.

In building His Church, Christ gathered about Him a few persons whose minds He thoroughly indoctrinated with His ideas. After that He gave himself up to die, leaving the job to us.

In our search for the founder of the Church let us study this morning at greater length the complete verse from which I have just quoted. Peter had just said to Jesus, "Thou art the Christ, the Son of the Living God." To that statement Jesus made answer, "Upon this rock I will build my Church." This corresponds with the words of Isaiah, who said in the 28th chapter and 16th verse, "Behold, I lay in Zion, for a foundation a stone, a sure foundation." And are built upon the foundation of the apostles and the prophets.

Jesus Himself being the chief corner stone. From these words we learn that the Church is founded upon Christ.

The Church in principle is a communion, a fellowship of persons who share a vision of God in Christ. This is the only real fundamental fact about it; others are important, to be sure, but important relative to it. They must never set themselves before it, or impede it in any way.

The standard of the Church is the best known; the Church stands for the most constructive program in the world. The Church creates and maintains the most wholesome influence in the world.

Remember our future depends upon the Church; if the Church should pass out of existence as some writers predict, civilization will not survive the 20th Century.

When we appreciate the relation that the Church should have to the social order, then it will be back to the Church and God. "Awake, awake; put on thy strength, O Zion." Let us get back to Church! and God. Come let us worship Him by being loyal to the Church. My friends, the church will point you to Him who doeth all things well. Awake, put on thy strength, and become active in the service of God. Do it with the same enthusiasm that you have for the lodges to which you belong. How much more important it is that we be loyal to the Church. There is so much more to be gained! I know that this back-to-Church movement is not popular with some people.

Someone has said that ministers should preach Christ and point men and women to God. Now that would be all right if we believed that God pointed to the Church. But such is not the case; the Church points to God, then through the Church men and women will find God.

"Awake, awake! and let us unite our spiritual forces, Roman Catholic, Jew and Gentile, that we might change our social order. The Church is valuable to the social order, because of the light which it can throw upon moral conditions. The Church is of value to society because of its saving and wholesome effect upon it.

Trusting in the Lord Jesus Christ for strength, let us try to make the Church one that will do much for Him and His cause in this world. Let us work and have a strong church, for Christ's sake.

Forest Fire Problem In West Virginia Grows More Critical

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 8 (AP) — The state's forest fire situation worsened considerably today as a Conservation Department official said fire danger may become as critical as it was last year.

Lester McClung, assistant state forester in charge of fire control, said, "We have nothing but the worst to look forward to."

Last year an estimated 600,000 acres of West Virginia woodlands went up in smoke.

Losses from woodland fires reported tonight included the home of the James Saddler family at Yawkey in Lincoln County and a barn full of hay which went up in flames on the Middle Fork of Davis Creek in Kanawha County. Conservation personnel said they believed the Saddler family was away from home, and that all their possessions were lost.
